MEAT DEALERS OPPOSE PRICE CEILING MOVE

New OPA Control Would Mean Scarcity, Black Market, Say Spokesmen.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The American Meat Institute warned the price decontrol board today that restoration of price ceilings on livestock would mean a return overnight of the black market and a scarcity of meat for consumers

The institute's views were expressed by its president, Wesley Hardenbergh of Chicago, at the board's second day of hearings to determine whether controls should remain off livestock, dairy products, grains, soybeans and cottonseed after Aug. 20.

Hear 28 Witnesses.

Hardenbergh, one of the 28 witnesses appearing before the board, declared that restoration of meat controls would be "deplorable" for consumers, producers and the meat-packing industry and "most unfortunate for the entire national economy." He added:

"If OPA meat controls ever again are imposed, experience shows that the black marketeers —overnight—will be back in the business of diverting meat away from counters which serve the average consumer and scarcities again will occur.

"The only beneficiaries will be the cheats and the chiselers who are waiting an opportunity to pounce on consumers again.

"Moreover, recontrols in addition to bringing back the black market with all its crookedness and maldistribution, would discourage production of meat animals for next year when a high level of production is imperative."

Other industry and farm groups take the position that restoration of controls would result in scarcity of meat supplies for consumers.

Consumers Disagree.

Consumer groups, however, stand on the argument that increases in the prices of meat since the lifting of ceilings on June 30 justify the recontrol of livestock and its products.

Members of the decontrol board, meanwhile, expressed satisfaction at the speedy progress of the hearings. The board heard 19 witnesses Monday, and plans to have at least 50 more testify tomorrow and Thursday.

City Opens Its Homes To Workers

Canvassers Report Fast Response for Appeal for Housing.

More than 200 rooms were found yesterday in the Mansfield area for incoming workers in the first day of a two-day campaign, and at least 350 were expected to be made available by tonight.

Spokesmen for the civic committee, heading the campaign for housing 5,000 additional workers needed in the city, said today that the first day of canvassing by 40 women had reached approximately 3,000 homes. Results of today's continued survey, spokesmen said, would determine whether or not the campaign would be extended another day.

The women reported last night that 150 home owners in the city were still undecided about renting rooms to the workers and that they had been given cards on which to report their decisions. The women resumed their drive at 8:30 a. m. today.

CHAIRMAN PLEASED WITH RESULTS

Frank A. Berkey, general chairman of the drive, said today that he was "highly pleased with the results of the first day's campaign," and that persons "in all sections of the city are responding nicely to the campaign." He added that yesterday's campaign found many home owners, who had not rented rooms before, offering spare bedrooms.

C. W. Handley, manager of the U. S. Employment office, said today that residents of two Richland county towns have added to the success of the current drive to list rooms for 5,000 needed work-

COMFORT FOR SABOTEURS: Wright Field, Ohio, officials let out another war secret today. They disclosed that German agents were dropped behind Allied lines in bomb-shaped containers. Three saboteurs were trapped horizontally inside the 490-pound, 10-foot container. When released from a plane, the missile drops in an upright position, its fall slowed by parachutes. First used by the Nazis in 1940, the containers enabled men without jumping experience to be dropped without danger of being separated as in individual jumps.

MOLOTOV RAPS BYRNES FOR 2ND 'INSULT'

Russian Hints U. S., Britain Seek to Hold 'Monopoly' in Mediterranean.

PARIS — (INS) — Russia, nettled by what it considered its second "insult" at the hands of U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, charged by inference today that the United States and Great Britain seek a "monopolistic position" in the Mediterranean.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov spoke of the possible "economic enslavement" of Italy through "foreign capitalistic exploitation."

He took the floor at the Paris peace conference after a parliamentary scrape with Byrnes, who [illegible] as chairman, called upon [illegible]pia to speak on the Italian [illegible].

The American chief delegate explained that Ethiopia had made its request in writing for a chance to be heard and that that request was made before Molotov put his name on the speakers' list.

Gives Russia Floor.

But then it turned out that Ethiopia was not represented today so Byrnes gave the floor to Russia.

Molotov rose and told Byrnes that he considered himself slighted and insulted.

By inference, Molotov charged that the United States and Great Britain are attempting to use commercial methods to obtain a "monopolistic position" in the Mediterranean.

He declared that such a policy was not "conducive to development of friendly relations between European states and could not serve the interest of lasting peace in Europe."

Molotov raised the alleged possibility of "economic enslavement" of Italy through "foreign capitalistic exploitation."

He declared that the western capitalist nations also included France within their goals. He added:

"Not only France but Italy should feel certain of their positions as Mediterranean states."

Mussolini's Body Found; Youths Held

MILAN —(INS)— The body of Benito Mussolini, former duce of fascist Italy, rested today in Milan's police headquarters while authorities questioned persons suspected of stealing it last April from a pauper's grave.

Police said that Domenico Lecciso, one of three youths suspected of robbing the grave, revealed the body was exhumed on April 22 and taken to a farmhouse a few miles north of Milan. The body remained in the farmhouse some 20 days, then was taken to the St. Angelo monastery where it remained until last Monday.

MOBS OPPOSE DEPORTATION OF REFUGEES

Outlawed Radio Calls Jews to Action as British Halt Immigrants.

HAIFA, Palestine—(AP)—The British deported 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus today aboard two troopships while mobs of young Jews, aroused by the outlawed Hagana radio, rioted in the troop-filled streets.

But another 650 illegal Jewish immigrants arrived off the harbor of this half-Jewish, half-Arab port aboard the sloop Fenice.

The rioting Jews stoned troops of the British First Infantry division, guarding the docks, and police.

The Hagana radio called on residents of Haifa to "storm the streets" and break the curfew, which the British imposed while the Jews were being loaded for deportation.

Defy Curfew.

Even the Arab quarters in Haifa joined in defiance of the curfew. The Arabs, however, caused little disturbance.

Jewish residents of the city streamed down hillside streets toward the docks a few minutes after the last refugees were loaded.

The British First Infantry division, called into action, quickly threw a cordon around the dock area, but only after nearly 2,000 persons had streamed down King's way which parallels the quays.

The curfew breakers, mostly young men, hurled stones at police and milled around the entrances to the docks.

PLANT SEIZURE AS STRIKE CURE NEARING END

Truman Disagrees With Labor Secretary, Wants to Drop Government Policy.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— President Truman appeared ready to abandon a five-year-old government policy of seizing private property to end strikes.

His stand threatened to widen a breach with Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach and was a direct blow at the CIO and its president, Philip Murray.

It left the problem of how to get the government out of the soft coal mining industry which Mr. Truman seized May 22. The government is operating the mines under a temporary agreement with President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers (AFL).

Indicates Decision.

Mr. Truman himself indicated his decision to change the seizure policy, which has prevailed since President Roosevelt took over North American Aviation company, Los Angeles, June 9, 1941.

In an unprecedented action, Mr. Truman announced he had decided not to seize the nine struck plants of the J. I. Case and Allis-Chalmers farm equipment companies Heretofore he and Mr. Roosevelt unwaveringly followed the formal seizure recommendations of their top-ranking labor advisers—either the secretary of labor or the war labor board—and there were 79 seizure cases in all.

Schwellenbach had been on record since June 4 for Case and Allis-Chalmers seizure to end a six months' strike by 25,000 members of CIO unions. He charged that neither company had made a sincere effort to settle the dispute.

The CIO's top international executive board and Murray personally appealed to Mr. Truman a month ago to take over the two companies. CIO sources say that the chief executive never acknowledged receipt of the communications.

U. S. LAUNCHES HOSPITAL PLAN

President Signs Legislation Granting 378 Millions to Aid States.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States today launched a far-reaching federal-aid hospital construction program as President Truman signed legislation making available to the states 378 million dollars in government funds over the next five years.

Congress has already appropriated two million, 350 thousand dollars to start off the program, the money to be used to assist the states in making the necessary surveys and plans.

Beginning with the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, and for four fiscal years thereafter, the U. S. surgeon general is authorized to distribute to the states on the basis of population and need 75 million dollars annually for hospitals

In signing the measure, the president said that he is "in full accord" with the objectives of assisting the states in construction of necessary hospital facilities.

However, the president raised an objection to one provision of the bill which he said "is contrary to sound principles of administration in that it sets up a council composed of individuals who are not to be full time officials of the government and authorizes this council not only to advise the surgeon general but to exercise a veto power over certain of his actions."

CHIEF GETS DATA, LEAVES

Ashland Official Hears From FBI on Semler Mystery, Starts on Vacation.

ASHLAND—Police Chief Harry Smith today turned his back on the 12-day-old mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Kate Semler and began a two-week vacation as Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening revealed that the FBI fingerprint analysis received yesterday would not lead to a verdict.

Chorpening said that a written report on the fingerprint and bloodstain analysis was yet to be received from the FBI and that until he and the county coroner, Dr. A. D. Lewis, of Jeromesville, had a chance to study that report, no verdict would be forthcoming.

Chorpening said today that the report is expected momentarily. An FBI agent from Mansfield was helping to expedite the transmission of the report, he said.

Police Chief Harry Smith last night reversed his plans to postpone his annual two-week vacation after receipt of the fingerprint analysis, and left Ashland early this morning.

Patrolman Lossing Young has been assigned to handle the Semler case in the absence of Chief Smith.

Chorpening said this morning that he and County Coroner Lewis would study the written report on its arrival. He said Lewis probably would issue a verdict based on findings in the report.

Victory Day Birthday To Be All-Out Affair

Mansfield and Richland county will go "all out" tomorrow for one of the biggest celebrations ever staged in the city. It will observe the first anniversary of "Victory day."

Although it isn't a legal holiday, Aug. 14 has been officially proclaimed "Victory day" by President Truman. Both the county courthouse and city building will close at noon along with the majority of Mansfield business places.

Final plans for a program celebrating cessation of hostilities on all fronts just a year ago were drawn last night by a V-Day committee of World War II veterans.

Formal Retreat.

Highlighting the program, in which all veterans have been asked to participate, will be a formal retreat ceremony at the flagpole in Central park following a "victory parade" through a section of the city's business district at 6:30 p. m. "Open house" will follow in all veterans' clubs, with a dance at the Legion home

Occupying the top place of honor during the program will be Mansfield's heroes of Bataan and other former prisoners of war, plus the county's Gold Star mothers.

Four Divisions.

Headed by Marshals William M. Colby and H. R. Crichfield, each one representative of one of the two major theaters of war, the parade will be split up into four large divisions, according to branch of service.

The first division, which will form on Park avenue west between Weldon avenue and the Ohio theater, will have the following order of march: massed national and organizational colors, the heroes of Bataan riding in a jeep, first division marshal Fred Hallabrin, other prisoners of war, Company M of the Ohio State Guard,

SEEKS HIGHWAY AROUND PORT

Auto Club Committee, County Commissioners Schedule Meet on Route 13.

A request for a new State Route 13 around Mansfield's municipal airport will be handed to county commissioners in a meeting between the commissioners and the five-member executive road committee of the Richland County Auto club tomorrow.

The meeting is scheduled for the commissioners' office in the courthouse at 9 a. m., Philip Wolfe, clerk of the commissioners, said.

The auto club requested the meeting after it had been told by Edison W. Ellis, assistant state highway department director at Columbus, that the state "cannot legally expend funds" for the improvement of the present County Road 13-A which replaced former State Route 13 which was abandoned when the airport was built.

The club had asked the state department to provide a new hard-surfaced road to replace the gravel-surfaced County Road 13-A which it considers hazardous and unsuitable for the heavy traffic entering Mansfield from the north

Harold Gerold, division engineer of the state highway department at Ashland, had previously reported that the state could not take part in providing a new road until the local political subdivision, in this case the commissioners, made a survey and provided land for a right-of-way.

"We understand it's up to the commissioners now and we'd like to ask them to take action. We've received many complaints, particularly from trucking firms and residents of the northern part of the county, about the substitute road and the long detour of Route 13 through Ashland," Jack Berger, secretary of the auto club, said.

MOTOR STRIKE ENDS

DETROIT —(U.P.)— The Packard Motor Car company began calling its 8,500 workers back to their jobs today, after the United Auto Workers (CIO) announced the end of a week-old strike over seniority and overtime differences. Packard officials said they hoped to be back in full operation by tomorrow.

LINCOLN SANE

Criminologist to Recommend Pen For Cleveland Man.

JOLIET, Ill — (U.P.) — Dr. R. G. Barrick, state criminologist, said today that he found no evidence of insanity in preliminary examinations of James F. Lincoln, jr., 29, who has confessed beating and shooting nine-year-old Carol Williams.

Barrick said he would recommend that Lincoln, who has been sentenced to one to 14 years' imprisonment, be sent to Stateville prison.

Barrick said Lincoln had above average intelligence and had "cooperated in every way" in the tests. Lincoln is the son of a wealthy Cleveland industrialist.

BURGLARS GET 60 SWEATERS

Women's Clothing Valued at $250 Reported Stolen at Vogue Shop.

Burglars broke into the Vogue ladies' wear shop, North Main street, yesterday and stole from four to five dozen women's sweaters valued at $250, police reported.

They said that entry was probably made through a window which was unlocked. One door was locked and another had heavy equipment behind it preventing its being used for entrance, officers said.

J. S. Roth, manager, said that he discovered the theft when he opened the shop.

Water Again Flowing Into Dnieper Dam

MOSCOW — (INS) — Water flowed into Russia's great Dnieper dam today for the first time since the war.

Actually, it was "scorched" twice. The Soviet army destroyed it before retreating in front of the German advance, and then the Nazis wrecked their own repairs as they withdrew from Russian soil late in the war.

However, there are many repairs still to be made.

HOUSE PROBERS CHECK FIELDS

Seek Reason For Ex-Convict's Success in Securing War Surplus Property.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A house investigating committee attempted today to learn whether Benjamin F. Fields, ex-convict and self-styled Washington public relations man, distributed "special favors" in obtaining his surplus property.

William J. Gilrein former sales manager in the Philadelphia office, War Assets Administration, was expected to be called to the witness stand to explain how Fields was able to obtain 53,900 linear feet of bronze wire screens when his order was submitted 10 days too late.

Anthony J. Flood, Upper Darby, Pa., a Philadelphia office official, testified that Gilrein personally handed him Fields' order and quoted Gilrein as stating that he'd forgotten to give it to him before.

Lacked Certification.

Flood testified further that by an "over-sight" on his part, the order was filled although it lacked the necessary certification that Fields was entitled to purchase war surplus goods.

Hugh Wise, jr., committee counsel, said Gilrein was subsequently dismissed by the Philadelphia office but did not know whether it was in connection with the Fields' transaction.

Fields testified that he sold the wire screens to War-Bilt Homes, Oklahoma City, for $8,085, plus a $4,000 commission for himself and his associates.

Carries Too Much Silver, Goes To Jail

By JOHN MINE

While silver dollars are common "legal tender" in the far west, in this not-so-wild and woolly city of Mansfield, pardner, they're a strange sight. Especially if a 17-year-old lad is totin' them around.

So if you wrap together the facts: A boy with 49 silver dollars, traveling from Wyoming to Connecticut, without ample identification, you can see why police held him for questioning.

But the holding of the lad for questioning and his 17-hour stay in city jail led to all sorts of complications—and Police Chief Meade K. Bates, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Detective Bruce Friday are today busy writing letters to the boy's father.

It seems that the youth's father, an editor on the Wall Street Journal, just couldn't understand why police here decided to detain his son for questioning.

He sent bitter letters to Bates, Vaughn and, incidentally, to the News-Journal

But Bates explained it this way:

The boy was picked up about 10:30 p. m. on East Fourth street

Bares Weird Medical Experiments By Nazis

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A special war department investigator revealed today new crimes committed by Nazi scientists and doctors, including the stripping of flesh from Jews to provide a medical museum with skeletons.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, official of the University of Illinois medical department, described weird experiments by Germans in the medical and scientific field to a news conference upon his return from Germany where he was sent by Secretary of War Patterson. He sought data needed to secure conviction of the guilty at trials.

Ivy said that there were two classes of crimes, experimental and non-experimental. He related the following as an example of the latter:

"A scientist wanted 100 skeletons of specific sizes for a medical museum. He picked out 100 Jews, killed them, stripped their flesh off, and had the skeletons needed to complete the museum collection."

Ivy said the Nazis gave German women medicines prepared to result in births of twins rather than one child, grouped male prisoners of war in large rooms and castrated them, and forced imprisoned women to undergo "physical examinations" during which they were made sterile.

Ivy declared that despite barbarity of Nazi methods nothing was discovered that the Allies had not learned by ethical studies.

DEATH PROBED

Producer's Wife Dies After Cutting Arm Tendon.

SANTA MONICA, Calif—(AP)—Police today began a coroner-requested investigation into the operating table death yesterday of the wife of Broadway Producer Michael Todd, who had filed suit for divorce less than a week ago.

Mrs. Bertha Todd, 39, died of a heart attack in St. John's hospital as she was about to undergo surgery to suture a severed tendon in her right hand, said her physician, Dr. Stanley Imerman.

CLOSED FOR REPAIRS

A section of Bowman street between Sixth and Springmill streets, will be closed tomorrow afternoon while workmen repave part of it, Street Supt. C. H. Hebel said today.

It's a Habit!--Auto Prices to Jump Again

WASHINGTON—(AP)—OPA went to work today on still another boost in automobile prices—one slated to push to around 25 per cent the total average hike over 1942 ceilings.

With authorized prices already about 22 per cent higher than the level of four years ago, OPA officials met with dealer representatives to thresh out the amount of the next increase.

Like the average 7.3 per cent boost piled yesterday on top of a previous 15 per cent rise, the imminent additional price hike is required by the new price control law.

Yesterday's increases, ranging from $62 to $322 a car, restored dealers' prewar profit margins, as ordered by congress. OPA had cut these before the controversy began over whether to keep the price control agency in existence.

Dealers Get Boost.

Now OPA has to re-establish dealers' prewar handling charges, which it also reduced. These charges cover the expense of a final check-up on new cars.

OPA officials previously had estimated that the handling charge adjustment would require a further 5 per cent increase in retail ceilings. Today they revised this downward to about 3 per cent.

The auto price increase on tap will be the fifth on top of 1942 ceilings since last November.

In addition to yesterday's profit-restoring increase, there have been boosts to offset (1) a rise in labor and materials costs during the war, (2) wage increases granted early this year, and (3) higher steel prices authorized in February.

Open Morrow County Fair At Mt. Gilead Thursday

IBERIA—The 96th annual Morrow county fair will open Thursday at the Mt. Gilead fairgrounds for three day and night sessions through Saturday, according to Leo Wilcox, secretary of the Morrow County Agricultural society. All exhibits will be in place Wednesday.

Races Saturday, including the free-for-all pace, the free-for-all trot, and the 2:21 pace, promise to be a treat for racing fans, L. L. Blayney, superintendent of speed, said. The schedule Thursday calls for afternoon races in the 2-year-old pace and trot, the 2:17 pace, and the 2:27 trot. Friday will see horses and sulkies in the 2:17 trot, the 2:27 pace, and the 2 21 trot. County high school bands will provide music.

Morrow county merchants are sponsoring the racing sessions with purses double those of last year and early reports list approximately 100 race horses registered for the races with more coming in.

The night fair offers a two-hour program in addition to the large midway attractions which are bigger than ever with improved lighting systems, asserts Gar Smith, president of the fair board.

Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m., entertainers from the Circle Arrow program on radio station WLW, including Homer and Jetsko, Dolly Good, Lafe Harkness, Mary, Jean and Betty, a youthful trio, will entertain in front of the grandstand. The program Friday night brings the famous Hoaglans hippodrome attraction and circus which is the finest of its kind on the circuit.

The finale Saturday night presents the Harmonaires, WLW entertainers, a group of colored singers with jive sing, popular and spiritual music, to round out the finest fair attractions in years.

One of the largest cattle displays ever shown is expected by Walter Hardesty, superintendent of cattle. The judging will be held on Friday.

Other fair board members are C. N. Dildiné, T. C. Curl, Virgil Crist, Earl Hershner, Walter Long, Roy Linn, Guy Renz, J. C. Eckert, L. A. Patrick, D. P. Chambers, Hoy Squires, R. C. Thatcher and I. J. Turner.

Robert May and Emma I Luteman, both of Greenwich, were united in marriage Thursday, Aug. 6, in Shiloh. Mayor Glenn Swanger performed the ceremony.

Richard Oglesbee, 11, son of Mrs. Ruth Oglesbee, suffered severe burns on his right leg last Saturday while playing in his "pirate camp" at the Aglesbee potato farm south of Shiloh on Bowman street road. With him at the time of the accident was a playmate, Jean White who was uninjured. Neither boy can fully explain what happened but they had apparently carried gasoline to an outdoor fireplace where they often roasted hot dogs Fumes from the gasoline collected under the legs of Richard's overalls and burst into flames when they approached the fire. Although his legs were burned his overalls did not catch fire. Unable to reach a doctor, the boy's mother rushed him to Shelby Memorial hospital where he was confined for several days.

LOOK OUT FOR PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong! And these pests, living inside the human body, can cause real distress.

So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms—especially the aggravating rectal itch. Get JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions.

P-W is the Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, after years of patient research. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to remove Pin-Worms.

Pals at Playtime

Have you ever noticed that most babies have their favorite plaything . . . a fuzzy little dog or bear or doll . . . and that they are always happy and contented when they have that favorite toy? That's not unusual, because that toy has certain features which please the baby. Similarly, many mothers have noticed that it's not unusual for their babies to be more contented and satisfied at feeding time when they give them Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk. And there are definite reasons for this preference by babies.

Homogenized Milk has a richer, creamier taste that babies like. Homogenization distributes the cream particles evenly through the milk, making every drop equally delicious and nourishing. And because the cream particles in Homogenized Milk are so much smaller, they form softer curds in the stomach, making digestion quicker and easier. Homogenized Milk enables more accurate preparation of feeding formulas because it is smooth and uniform. It also improves cooking and baking because it combines better with other ingredients. But these advantages aren't all . . .

Every quart of Isaly's contains 400 units of Vitamin D, the amount nutrition authorities say babies and growing children should have daily to help build strong bones and sound teeth. Vitamin D is not found in adequate quantities in any regular foods, but by using Isaly's you can make certain your children will get all the Vitamin D they need

So why not try Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D Milk tomorrow and see what a favorite it will be with everyone, especially the baby. Just call us—4217-6—or drop us a post card and tell us when to begin delivery of this richer, finer milk. There's no extra charge for service to your door. And you may also enjoy the convenience of choosing from the selection of other famous Isaly dairy products which the Isaly route man has.

For your added health protection, every quart of Isaly's milk has double sanitary sealing. First, a tight but easily removed cap in the top of the bottle which may be used as a cover when the bottle is not in use, and second, a fresh, cellophane hood which fits snugly down over the top of the bottle and keeps the pouring rim healthfully clean. Look for the crisp, golden cellophane hood on Isaly's Homogenized Vitamin D milk.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

A mother has a way of knowing,
But keeping what she knows from showing.

—Old Mother Nature.

"I don't know what the young folks of today are coming to," said he.

Over in the Old Pasture Farmer Brown's Cows were grazing. With them were several Cowbirds. One of these was Sally Sly. Between the Cows and the birds there was complete understanding, a sort of partnership. As the Cows moved along their feet stirred up many insects in the grass. These their feathered friends, following close to those horny hoofs, caught with the least possible trouble. The food didn't quite hop into their mouths but sometimes it seemed as if it almost did.

In return for the privilege of getting their meals without even the trouble of looking for them the feathered friends relieved their big friends of many annoying insect pests, perching on their broad backs and catching bothersome flies and other biting and stinging insects.

Now and then another Cowbird would join the small flock. Usually it was a fully grown but young bird. He or she, whichever it was, was always admitted without question. Always Sally Sly looked them over sharply. One such had joined the flock this day. He had come quietly. Just where he had come from no one knew. One moment he wasn't there and the next moment he was there. He was not at all bashful. Indeed, some of his elders thought he was a little forward, a little bold, lacking in good manners. He even dared to snatch a Grasshopper from under the very bill of a Cowbird old enough to be his grandfather.

The latter shook his head in disgust. "I don't know what the young folks of today are coming to," said he. "When I was young I was taught to respect my elders."

"You were taught nothing of the kind and you know it," declared Sally Sly, who had been near enough to overhear what he had said. "You don't even know who your mother was. As for your father, you have no more idea who he was than I have who mine was. The young of today are no worse and no better than we were when we were young and you know it. Now that he has no one to look out for him he must look out for himself, and that is all he was doing when he caught that Grasshopper."

"It was mine," grumbled the old Cowbird.

"Then why didn't you catch it?" snapped Sally Sly. "A Grasshopper belongs to nobody until caught. That handsome young Cowbird was too quick for you, so the Grasshopper is his and not yours. He is smart, that bird. He'll be a credit to his race."

"To hear you talk one might think you are his mother," said the old Cowbird.

"Perhaps she is," said another who had been listening.

"If she is she don't know it," said another.

"We Cowbirds are a smart people," said the old bird who had lost the Grasshopper. "We have found out how to make others raise our children for us, do all work and worrying, and take better care of them than we could ourselves. We can come and go as we please and never give them a thought."

"Can we?" said Sally Sly softly. She was very near the young bird who had so quietly joined the flock. No one seemed to have noticed that she had kept near him ever since he had appeared. No one seemed to have noticed that she had once or twice passed him a choice bit of food. The young Cowbird didn't notice it himself. He was so used to being waited on, of having his food given to him, that he accepted Sally Sly's attentions without giving them a thought. People who have been waited on too much, have always had things done for them, are like that.

Did Sally Sly know this fine young Cowbird was her son, her very own? Had she been keeping a watch of him all the time the Vireos, in whose nest she had laid the egg from which he had hatched, to see that he was well cared for? Was that why she was so interested in him now that he had joined the flock? Who can say? No one but Sally Sly herself, and she won't. But it could be.

Barclay On Bridge

"NOBODY will ever place a higher value on you than you put on yourself" was the advice given by an older business man to a younger one who had asked what salary he should request on a job he was seeking. It is the same with a bridge player. The prospective declarer, who fears that five-odd in a minor might be too hard to make, even though the minor is patently the correct suit, and prefers to essay game in four-odd of a major when it is clearly an unsound trump suit, deserves whatever misfortune befalls him.

And, believe it or not, North passed that, instead of showing his preference for diamonds, by going to 5-Diamonds. His excuse, after the hand was over, was that he thought 10 tricks might be easier to make in spades than 11 tricks in diamonds, since he had three cards to an honor in the spades. But what happened to his partner was a caution.

West led the club K, which the spade 6 ruffed. A diamond drove out the A, and the club Q forced South's second trump. Now South scored the spade A and K and the diamond Q, then laid down the spade Q in the hope that trumps were evenly divided. They were not. The probable division of four and two existed. So East still had a trump left. The diamond J drove it out, but East thereupon led a third club round, so West could take three more tricks in that suit. That made a total of five tricks for the defense and set the contract two.

At 5-Diamonds, with a lead of the club K, South would have been in clover. In fact, his contract would have been "ice cold," and he could have made an extra trick for an unbid small slam if he guessed West for the heart Q. The only trick the defense would have been sure to score was with the diamond A

Having bid diamonds first, then shown power with his cue-bid of clubs, North should have counted the diamonds as at least five and the spades as only four.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

By this time probably one citizen out of every three in America has seen "Life With Father." The play was tried out first in a summer theater in a quaint old Maine town named Skowhegan.

That was the year they were building a new state highway. The official blueprints dictated that it be laid out right through the middle of the oldest cemetery in the vicinity. The natives grumbled a bit, but respect for the law in those parts is very strong indeed and nobody did anything about it. In fact, several natives even got jobs working on the new road.

After one long rehearsal Howard Lindsay and Dorothy Stickney were having a cup of coffee at the lunch wagon on the main street when they heard one old boy say to a local member of the road gang, "You must be pretty well through the old cemetery by this time. "Yup," was the reply. "Have you reached my Great Aunt Minnie's grave yet?" "Yup." "How was she lookin'?"

The road builder said "Peaked."

PENSION CHECKS AVERAGE $32.10

1,202 Aged County Residents Get State Aid in July; It Totals $38,585.

State aid for aged checks went to 1,202 Richland countians last month and they averaged $32.10 each as compared with a state average of $32.14, it was reported today by the division of aid for aged.

Payments to Richland countians in July totaled $38,585. Of the persons receiving aid, 207 were paid the maximum of $40 as of November, 1945.

Richland county has approximately 6,000 persons 65 years of age or older, and in December, 1945, 20.6 per cent of them were receiving state assistance, the report shows. During last year 99 persons were certified for assistance in the county.

Last month 117,089 aged residents of Ohio got aid for aged checks amounting to $3,763,476. The state appropriation for aid for aged payments this year was approximately $44,500,000. Administrative expense of the division is about five and a half per cent of the total appropriation.

BIKE RACKET BOSS FINED; BOY RELEASED

Judge Suspends Sentence of James Czervinski, Truck Driver.

ASHLAND — James Czervinski, Cleveland, held in custody here since Wednesday on bicycle theft charges, was fined $200 and costs in police court Monday when found guilty of petit larceny.

Judge Harold E. Andrews suspended a 30-day jail sentence on condition of good behavior. Czervinski was originally charged with grand larceny when he and a 13-year-old fellow Clevelander were taken into custody while the youth was taking a stolen bicycle to the edge of the city to load it on the older man's truck. The grand larceny charge was reduced to petit larceny when value of the bicycle was found to be $30 instead of $40.

The juvenile was returned to his home in Cleveland after receiving a suspended sentence in juvenile court here.

Named to Post At Princeton

Howard Menand, jr., former assistant purchasing agent at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant, has been appointed assistant to the dean of Princeton university's School of Engineering, it was announced today by President Harold Willis Dodds.

Menand has been an executive with the Westinghouse corporation for the past eight years, and was affiliated with the plants at Springfield, Mass., and Fairmont, W. Va., before coming to Mansfield.

A member of the class of 1936 at Princeton and a graduate of the Harvard School of Business administration, Menand will supervise the engineering school's program for securing surplus government equipment for instructional purposes and will assist with the presentation of courses in engineering administration and industrial management.

AKRON WORKERS ASK PAY BOOSTS

Demand Increases to Keep Pace With Upsurges in Cost of Living.

AKRON, O. — (AP) — CIO union members at the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company demanded that the company reopen their wage contract and insert a provision that would automatically raise wages with increases in the cost of living.

George Bass, president of the CIO-United Rubber Workers local that has some 15,000 members, announced the demand following a union meeting in which he said the "emasculated OPA bill is a fraud and will not protect the standard of living of the working people."

The clause presented to the company would grant wage boosts of one per cent for each one per cent rise in the cost of living. Living costs would be determined by a committee set up by the union.

The rubber workers were granted an 18½ cent hourly pay hike in a contract signed several months ago with the "Big Four" rubber companies.

Safety pins were first devised in 1849.

3 Injured In Series of Traffic Mishaps

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL

Jack Lait — On Broadway

Those who tut tut with nostalgic regret over the "passing" of the passenger ship should talk with some of the travel agents. . . . They have been flooded with inquiries about resumption of sailings across, and cruises along the shores. . . . No swift luxury plane will ever give what the sleek vessels did—leisure, relaxation, that complete realization of remoteness from cares and responsibilities. . . . Nowhere else can strangers so quickly become friends, or better. . . . Inhibitions are left at the dock. . . . Music sounds so much more melodious on a ship; wine tastes so much more heady. . . . There is no sense of haste. . . . There is sense of repose—and tranquility. . . . No, the era of ships has not passed.

* * *

Reported Romancing — Venita Vardon, ex-Mrs. Jack Oakie, and the French architect, Joseph Varenne, cabling constantly. . . . Kitty Kallen, soprano, and Frank Parker, tenor, in the key of G-whizz. . . . Doris Sands, of the Carnival chorus, and Joe Erens. . . . Sally Rawlinson, daughter of the silent star, Herbert R., and Alvin White, artist, were wed Aug. 11. . . . Moune, the Parisian chanteuse brought here by Barney Josephson, married to Ellis Larkins, the pianist, in Baltimore. . . . Art Ford and the Powers poser, Taffy Brown. . . . Joan Crawford seen again with Greg Bautzer — but who ever knows what's going on in her nimble brain?

* * *

There is more gambling to the square foot in what is left of the New York "ghetto" than in any other part of the city, including Harlem. . . . But there is less vice than in any other sector, including Park avenue or Flatbush. . . . What with big housing projects and spaces set aside for parks, the area once famous as the unwalled stockade of Jewish immigrants has lost much of its historic flavor and character—and surely most of its odor. . . . There are still a few push-carts and pullers-in, but very few. . . . The region, once the habitat of British aristocracy, as indicated by the street names—Delancey, Stanton, Rivington, Essex, Suffolk, Ludlow, Clinton, Rutgers, Elizabeth, Pike, Pell, etc.—is now Americanized, blended in with the metropolis. . . . The principal difference between it and most of the city is—it has the highest percentage of college graduates.

* * *

This will probably be the last racing season at Saratoga. . . . The taste of the dough—four times as much attendance and betting when the allotted dates are played at the New York tracks—is expected to end the era of almost a century of sport at the Spa. . . . This will not be a highly "social" meeting, such as the past has known. . . . Nevertheless, hotels up there are asking $100 a week for a room, paid in advance, and just about everything is booked up.

Saratoga bit deeply into New York nightlife. . . . The best and steadiest spenders have flocked to the Spa, which, with all its hopes, didn't anticipate such a gold- rush. . . . The OPA doesn't seem to have pentrated there. . . . Prices were pegged steep for a short season. . . . But, when the New York influx fluxed in, the natives took up some notches in the jacks. . . . Now the common man with a $5 bill doesn't know whether to lay it on the favorite to show or buy a hot dog.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — Mr. Molotov's castigations of the American daily press, following those by Ilya Ehrenberg, of Pravda, are a welcome provocation to self-praise by an institution that is rarely moved to answer attacks or acknowledge compliments.

The press of the United States is the best in the world. It prints news, of course, but, beyond that, in return for the rights and privileges which it enjoys, it has sought out and corrected evils in a career of crusades dating back to revolutionary days. In this phase, it has been a combination of the FBI since long before the existence of that bureau and a prosecuting arm of local, state and national governments.

These services have included fierce campaigns against the Ku Klux Klan, of the twenties, in which individual editors and reporters knowingly invited assault by night and owners took boycotts; fights on Communism in the national government and in the dominant party under Franklin Roosevelt; fights against the court-packing plan; exposees of enormous corruption by arrogant combinations of railroad promoters and crooked financiers and literally hundreds of long and desperate brawls with rotten political machines in practically all our major cities and most of the states.

* * *

The standard, commercial daily American press which, so Molotov says, "is controlled by two or three bosses," has defied the box-office pressure of advertisers and bankers and the incited howls of emotional mobs in a long life of public service, the benefits of which are immeasurable because we can't know what evils would have thrived today but for the reforms thus wrought.

* * *

The Russians obviously are embarrassed before the free element of the world for otherwise Molotov would have ontinued to ignore criticisms of the Russian press system which have pointed out a fatal defect of Communism and Nazism, alike, for many years. His defense is a counterattack, easily frustrated, which will fail to divert attention from the fact that Ehrenberg, for example, would be shot for finding fault with Stalin, Molotov or the Red dictatorship.

The irritation became painful to the Russians when the Americans insisted on the same freedom for American reporters to travel and observe in Russia and to report honestly what they learned, that Communists commonly enjoy in the United States.

It was unthinkable that the Russian people should be allowed to read in their press articles describing the privileges and superior conditions of life prevailing among the Serfs of capitalism here. Ehrenberg and his colleagues were allowed to travel where they would and, although his farewell to us was a snarl and a threat of war, written under official auspices by a spokesman for the official press of his country, this hostility had been anticipated and was only casually noted. He, on the other hand, justified the limitations placed on American information from Russia, on the ground that the American reporters were not Communists and therefore would not be sympathetic.

* * *

The common criticism of the American press offered by the Communists and by many frustrated second-rate American essayists, is that it is a commercial institution which sells advertising space and therefore is utterly beholden to those who buy it. The alternative, however, is either the ad-less newspaper, the most recent of which has been rattling the cup lately after losing $4,000,000 in competition with more honest and, from the professional standpoint, incomparably better dailies, or the subsidized organ of a group or interest.

As long as some papers sell advertising space, the ad-less paper will fail commercially because the advertising revenue permits the commercial paper to hire better reporters and writers and turn out a better product. The subsidized publication of a political party, such as the Worker, of the Communisis in New York, doesn't even profess to present honest, impartial treatment of news. The Worker, of course, not only accepts ads but, in a memorable instance, badgered the A. and P. stores for a share of its advertising appropriation, but it doesn't get enough. Had the A. and P. yielded, the Worker probably would not have changed its editorial policies. But no more have the commercial papers which calmly published the revelation, quite embarrassing to John Hartford, of A. and P., that he had loaned $200,000 to Elliott Roosevelt, and lost it. Nor did Mr. Hartford even suggest that the story be dropped or tempered.

Papers whih live on subsidies, whether from political, religious, racial or financial groups, exist only to serve the interests of those who support them, and objective fairness is heresy in their columns.

Hal Boyle — Globe-Jotting

By JAMES DEVLIN
(For Hal Boyle)

HERFORD, Germany — (AP) — Without peanuts and popcorn, an estimated two dozen circuses are bringing some cheer to the civilian population and occupation troops in Germany's drab, ruined cities.

The estimate is that of Mario Jean Mayerhoff, manager of the Althoff circus playing here.

Mayerhoff is an anti-Nazi born in Berlin of Argentine parents and bears concentration camp number 179967 tattooed on his left forearm.

The young veteran of Oswecim and Dachau said his father was Enrico Mayerhoff, of Calle Rio Bamba 366, Buenos Aires, and that he has an American aunt, Mrs. Betty Atlas of Chicago.

* * *

Mayerhoff spoke ruefully of hardships under which the circuses operate. He said a number of the great shows suffered serious bomb damage, and that few had any wild animals left. One might have an elephant, another a lion, another a tiger, instead of the pre-war varied assortments. Most, though, have plenty of trained horses.

Food is scarce for both artists and animals. Transportation is a constant problem. Much of the equipment is old and battered. German town officials concerned with bomb damage and refugees are loathe to give much time or co-operation to the circuses.

Yet, the show goes on.

The Althoff circus is typical of the postwar shows. Its one tent, with flags of blue, white, red and white and blue horizontal stripes flying from its peaks, is surrounded by horse-drawn trailers in which the performers live.

A far cry from the great shows that appear in Madison Square Garden, it has only one ring, but the types of acts are fundamentally the same.

It is more intimate than larger shows. German men, women and children and British troops sit on benches placed so close to the ring that sometimes tanbark is kicked into their laps.

Americans notice two main differences from their type of shows. The music is provided by an orchestra instead of a band. And the clowns are vocal, often halting to tell jokes instead of relying solely on pantomime.

PLEASANT HILL ROAD CALLED JOB OF CONSERVANCY.

McGregor Asserts District Must Grant Right of Way For New Highway.

First action in providing some 50 property owners near the Pleasant Hill dam with a road to replace one covered by waters of the reservoir appeared today to be the responsibility of the Muskingum Conservancy district.

That was the way J. Harry McGregor, representative to congress for the 17th district, put it at a meeting of property owners, Ashland and Richland county commissioners and engineers, U. S. Army engineers, and representatives of the state highway department, the conservancy district and the state forest and parks departments in the Richland county courthouse yesterday.

Petition For Action.

The land owners had petitioned him for action in the problem because so many different governmental authorities and agencies have, or appear to have, various responsibilities in the matter.

Most of the property owners' land abuts or is near a private lane known as the Stoner access road in Worthington township in Richland county. The petitioners want this lane dedicated as a public highway and continued eastward through Hanover township, Ashland county, to and across the Pleasant Hill dam.

Someone Made Promise.

"When the dam was built, someone appears to have promised these people a road to replace the one flooded by the reservoir waters. I think they should have it. It appears that first action is up to the Muskingum Conservancy district in that it must grant a right of way over its land," McGregor told the conferees.

Richland County Engineer Walter E. Rusk estimated that 3,700 feet of the proposed road lies in Richland county and some 1,200 feet in Ashland county. He estimated cost of the road would be around $30,000, largely because of the hilly terrain over which the land owners want it to pass.

SHELBY YOUTH ON PROBATION

Given Fine For Disorderly Conduct; Two Other Cases Are Continued.

A 17-year-old Shelby youth, convicted of disorderly conduct was fined $10 and costs and put on probation to Shelby Police Chief Leroy Coffey this morning.

Testimony in juvenile court disclosed that the boy was discovered in a Shelby beer parlor and became abusive to a police officer Saturday night.

Judge S. H. Cramer fined him, put him on probation to Chief Coffey for one year, required him to make reports to the chief every two weeks, be in his home by midnight each night, and refrain from drinking intoxicants and to stay away from places selling liquor.

The court granted continuance of the case of Helen Sawyer, waitress in a North Main street cafe, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old youth by selling him beer.

The woman has asked for a jury trial. Her attorney is J. V. Will.

Case against the boy, charged with delinquency, also was continued.

PLANS PROJECTS

Galion Jaycees Map Fall Program Details.

GALION—Meeting in the IOOF hall last night, the Junior Chamber of Commerce discussed plans for several fall projects. The meeting was in charge of the president, Woodrow Crissinger.

A report of an entertainment series which the Jaycees will sponsor this fall was given by Marvin Adams and Clem Chandler, chairmen of the project.

Details for membership induction were explained by the two chairmen in charge, Clem Chandler and James Robinson.

Considerable time was spent in discussing campaign guidance for members who wish to contribute funds for stock in the new Galion-Crestline Airport corporation. The Junior Chamber of Commerce will cooperate in selling stock for the corporation and pushing plans for the new airport.

Studies Purchase Of Airport Stock

GALION—At its regular meeting Monday night Scarbrough post, American Legion, discussed the matter of purchasing stock in the proposed Galion-Crestline airport. The proposal was turned over to the executive committee for decision.

Reports also were given on Legion baseball and other athletic activities by Louis Nagy. There also was a report on the progress that is being made in organization of a Legion band.

Terminal leave pay was another matter up for discussion.

Children's Theater Players Win Praise In 'Little Princess'

A Children's Theater cast of 22 youngsters gave the first of two presentations of "The Little Princess," childhood classic of the Victorian period, before an audience of 200 last night at South park.

The second presentation, with nine new members in the cast, will be given at 8:15 p. m., today in the park amphitheater.

Betty Weir had the title role of "Sara" last night while Patsy Edmonstone was cast as Miss Minchin and Joan Horsman as Becky.

Charlotte Calene drew many laughs as Ermengarde, a student who disliked books, and Sammie Kay Matthes' depiction of a mean little girl was outstanding.

The story centers around a rich girl, Sara, who is a student at Miss Minchin's boarding school. Sara loses her money and is banished to the attic with a scullery maid, Becky.

Sara becomes acquainted with Mr. Carrisford, a neighbor, who happened to be a partner of her father. She recovers her money and the three-act play ends on a happy note.

In keeping with the Children's Theater policy of using as many young thespians as possible, Antina Vaneff takes over the title role tonight with June Klein as Miss Minchin and Betty Wilson as Becky. Adrienne Lymper plays Ermengarde.

Remainder of the cast follows: Lottie, Judy Maxwell; Lavinia, Gwen Knox; Janet, Jean Kay Frasher; Nora, Shirley Grevings; Jessie, Grace Friday; Mazie, Barbara Schreiner; Lilly, Peggy Bayer; Donald, Johnny Matthes; Amelia, Patty Daugherty.

Mrs. Carmichael, Nancy Lee Clark; Mr. Carmichael, Chuck Twitchell; Ram Dass, Jon McGinty; Lascar, Billy King; Barrow, Jay Herbert; Carrisford, Ronald Roberts; Blanche, Donna Friday and maids, Carol Jean Hurst and Nora Evers.

"Little Princess" was the first play produced by the Children's Theater when it opened nine years ago. Bettie Gibson, now an associate director, played the lead in the original show.

Harold McCuen is directing "Little Princess", assisted by scenic designer, Betsy Cave and technical director, David Drumm. Jean Craiger is prompter.

ALARMS KEEP FIREMEN BUSY

Companies Make Runs to Tire Plant, 2 Suburban Areas During Day.

Firemen were called out four times last night to extinguish three minor blazes and to discover that one of the alarms was sounded because smoke from a stove caused someone to think a house was afire.

A timothy field on Olivesburg road, owned by Will Stelz, was set afire yesterday about 5:45 p. m. by a cigaret which had been tossed into the field, firemen said.

At about 6 p. m., firemen were called to the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company to extinguish a flash fire which they said was probably caused by machine static. The machine was not damaged, they said.

At the home of Julie Scott, 54 Louis street, firemen found that an alarm had been sounded when someone mistook stove smoke coming from an upstairs window for a fire.

Firemen made a run to the corner of Park avenue west and Linden road to extinguish a grass fire which spread from a rubbish fire.

10 DISCHARGED AT GREAT LAKES

2 Mansfielders, 8 Area Men Get Releases; Center to Close Sept. 1.

Two Mansfielders and eight area men were discharged today at Great Lakes, Ill., naval separation center.

Mansfielders were: Tommy D. Edwards, seaman first class, 589 Grant street, and Daniel P. Krizan, seaman second class, R. D. 2.

Area discharges included: Robert S. Phillips, radarman third class and Richard R. Kerr, electrician's mate third class, Ashland; John R. Post, seaman second class, and Robert E. Hoffman, seaman first class, Crestline; Maurice R. Riter, coxswain, Galion; Rollin G. Heib, motor machinist's mate third class, Millersburg; Kenneth R. Gates, coxswain, Shiloh; and John H. Striker, seaman first class, Willard.

In connection with the official termination of the navy demobilization program on Sept. 1, the Ninth naval district headquarters at Great Lakes has issued orders for the disestablishment of personnel separation centers throughout the district.

After Sept. 1, separation processing at Great Lakes will be handled by a post demobilization unit which will be set up to handle approximately 150 discharges per month. WAVES and nurses will be processed at the U. S. Naval hospital.

Disestablishment dates set for the Ninth naval district separation centers are: Personnel separation center, naval training center, Great Lakes, Sept. 6; officers separation center, Great Lakes, Sept. 15; WAVES separation center, Great Lakes, Sept. 6.

HEADS PARK GROUP AGAIN

Hollis J. Quinlan Re-elected By Maple Lake Association; Plan Projects.

Hollis J. Quinlan was re-elected president of the Maple Lake park association last night at the annual meeting in the association hut at the park.

Other officers, all newly-elected, include: Howard Kochheiser, vice president; Mrs. Richard Uhl, secretary, and Howard Sowash, treasurer.

Three new delegates to the Manfield Park association were chosen. They are J. F. O'Donnell, Robert LaFevre, and Harvey Fitzsimmons.

Announcing that the organization has received added impetus from increasing enrollment of members, Quinlan said that the association is considering hiring a grounds man or supervisor to look after the meeting building and the tennis courts.

The association now has 300 members, approximately 75 more than had joined at the beginning of the summer.

Quinlan added that members are also planning to install lighting facilities at the tennis courts to afford illumination for night playing.

LIKES IT UP HERE—

A flowering plant, usually associated with the deep south, has moved into Mansfield and is doing fine in a yard out on Greenwood avenue. The shrub, a mimosa, is growing at the home of Mrs. H. C. DeYarmon, 77 Greenwood avenue. It is five feet tall and has survived at least three winters. Its leaves open during the day and close at night sometimes closing even during a storm when the sky becomes dark. The flowers are a delicate pink.

* * *

IT LOOKED REAL—

A report of a "two-gun man" molesting some gentlemen-of-the-road near Plymouth the other day brought a flavor of the old west to the sheriff's department. It seems that a number of transients were cooking over their tin can stove in a patch of second growth trees along the railroad tracks near Plymouth when Clay Hulbert, Plymouth marshal, marched into their camp and ordered them to move along. Hulbert was wearing a pistol and carrying a rifle, the latter on the chance he might spot a woodchuck along the tracks. The gents did move along—right along to Shelby where they reported to the police that a "two-gun man" had threatened them. Shelby relayed the report to the sheriff's department and Deputy G. C. Humphrey investigated to discover that the menace was only Hulbert doing his duty.

MORE 'POMATOES'—

When Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deschner, Lenox avenue, looked at their potato patch the other day, they discovered that they not only had potatoes, but also tomatoes growing on the same stalks. Tomatoes are growing on the potato stalks in a whole row that is next to the tomato plants. There are two or three tomatoes on each stalk above the ground while potatoes are growing as usual under ground.

AUTO SMASHES UTILITY POLE, THEN UPSETS

Two Youths Hurt in Crash on East Fourth Street; Boy Struck By Car.

Three persons, including a four-year-old Mansfield boy, were injured in traffic accidents yesterday and early today in the Mansfield area, police reported.

Injured in a mishap at 2:15 a. m., today at East Fourth and Snyder streets were John H. Burkholder, 19, Pavonia, driver of a car, and Jesse Au, jr., 20 Mansfield, R. D. 1, who was riding with him.

Both were treated at General hospital for face and head injuries and released. Police said Burkholder's car crashed into a stop sign and a utility pole and then overturned.

In municipal court today, Burkholder pleaded guilty to a charge of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle, and was fined $10 and costs and his license was suspended for 60 days.

Burkholder told officers that he "didn't know what happened." Patrolman Howard Dickson reported that Burkholder "had been drinking."

Witnesses reported that Burkholder's car made a turn from Ashland road onto East Fourth street, struck the south curbing, jumped over the curb and crashed into the sign and pole.

Child Hit By Car.

Four-year-old Wendell Elliott, of 200 Wayne street, was treated at General hospital for face and arm lacerations after he was struck by a car driven by Leroy Mitchell, Mansfield, R. D. 4, yesterday at Orange street near Wayne street.

Mitchell told police that the boy ran from behind parked cars and into the path of his auto.

Meanwhile, police today were still investigating a two-car accident which early Sunday resulted in the death of Mrs. Arthur G. Hoover, 64, of 334 West Sixth street.

Traffic Commissioner Frend Boals said that police are attempting to locate witnesses to the accident. He said that drivers of both cars claim to have had the green light at the Penn avenue-West Fourth street intersection.

Mrs. Hoover was a passenger in a car driven by her husband. Police said that the second car was driven by Floyd E. Boley, 32, of 303 West Sixth street, and that it crashed into the rear of the Hoover car.

Condition 'Poor.'

Still in "poor" condition at General hospital today was James Lewis, 25, of 511 Springmill street, while the condition of Robert Dean Duff, 3, of 224 Atcheson avenue, was reported as "fair."

Lewis was injured early Sunday when his car collided with a truck on Park avenue east. The Duff boy was injured when struck by a car driven by Charles R. Franzen, 23, of 291 Bulkley avenue, Sunday afternoon at Liberty park.

At Shelby Memorial hospital, the condition of Thomas Ellis, 8, was reported as serious. He suffered a skull fracture when a bicycle he was riding collided with a car driven by Vernon Heltz, Shelby, R. D., yesterday on State Route 39 near Shelby.

More than 3,000 service personnel are due to debark from two transports today at New York and Seattle.

Ships arriving:

At New York.

J. W. McAndrew from Leghorn with 1,650 troops.

At Seattle.

Goucher Victory from Yokohama with 1,429 troops.

Woman Jailed For Assault; Judge Says She Perjured Self

A Mansfield woman, charged with assault and battery in connection with the injuring of another woman, was sentenced to 60 days in county jail today in municipal court.

The woman, Emma Burkes, of 265 North Diamond street, was accussed of assault and battery by Ann Green, Mansfield.

Judge H. H. Schettler said the 60-day sentence was ordered after he learned that Emma Burkes had perjured herself when she denied signing an affidavit charging John Stokes, also of 265 North Diamond street, with assault and battery.

Police said the woman signed the affidavit July 8 and had been in the hospital until recently recovering from injuries she allegedly suffered in a fall on a flight of stairs. In court today the woman denied signing the affidavit.

One of two motorcycle drivers was fined $10 and costs on a speeding charge while the case of the other was continued until tomorrow when he pleaded innocent.

Fined was Stanley Brinley, 634 Grant street. He pleaded guilty. Pleading innocent to the speeding charge was Joseph J. Barth, of Newville road. Police cited both early today on Park avenue east and charged them with driving 52 miles and hour.

Fined $10 and costs on a charge of intoxication and disorderly conduct was Robert Patterson, 32 West Second street. Richard Hecht, 165 South Main street, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of failing to display lights.

High Waves Snarl Rescue Attempts

TOKYO —(INS)— The Liberty ship Joseph Aspdin was wallowing in heavy seas 200 miles off Sasebo, Japan, today as the American detroyer Goodrich stood by attempting rescue operations.

The Aspdin has been helpless since last Saturday due to a damaged rudder. Radio reports from the ships said the heavy seas were hampering the rescue efforts of the Goodrich and a Japanese tug which was attempting to take the ship in tow.

VETS WANT FARMS

TULE LAKE, Cal. — (INS) — An estimated 15,000 World War II veterans today sought 7,500 acres of rich irrigated northern California farming lands—the first in the United States to be thrown open to them. The 86 farms average 87 acres.

Safety Cabs, Post 72 Win In District Tournament

Hal Clawson

A lot of people who were on hand last night for the pro fight show at the Armory's outdoor arena are wondering today whether one of the fights should have been allowed to continue the full distance.

That was the Lloyd Pine-Tommy Welch bout.

It went the full six rounds although Pine, one of the gamest fighters this writer has ever seen, was a badly beaten lad about half way through.

One of the most popular of fighters who used to box here before the war, Pine evidently didn't want to hit the floor and he kept asking for further punishment.

* * *

A cut that was opened above his left eye early in the fight, kept getting worse right along as Welch used that as a target.

* * *

The crowd realized that Pine was beaten in the early rounds even though he kept coming back to land a few punches. From then on it was simply a matter of how much longer the Akron lad could hang on.

* * *

The Cleveland Indians played host to nearly 125 young Mansfield sandlot baseball players yesterday afternoon.

Jim Lymper, sandlot director, announced Sunday that he had 100 tickets for yesterday's game. The kids grabbed up all those and Jim had to write letters for more than two dozen others.

Members of the Philadelphia Phillies have adopted a resolution which declares that Mickey Owen deserves a five-year suspension for jumping from the Brooklyn Dodgers to the Mexican league.

Hart Stops Tony Rios In Eighth By a TKO

Dick Alexander Gains Six-Round Win Over Akron's Tiger Jackson.

By HAL CLAWSON

Tony Rios' long trip from Mexico last week must have been too much for him here last night and the presence of Harry Hart in the ring with him didn't help.

Hart, one of the best lightweights in these parts, punched his way to an eight-round TKO win over Rios before 800 fans on the outdoor show at the Armory.

This bout had just about everything that the fans wanted to see which included plenty of fast action.

Only one knockout was on the card last night, that coming from the free-swinging right hand of George Kerestes, 160-pound Mansfield scrapper.

He put Bobby Grant, 160, of Akron, away in 1:46 of the second round of their scheduled four-round setto.

Three six-round scraps went the full distance for two decisions and a draw.

Dick Alexander, Mansfield's fine welterweight, gained a close win over Tiger Jackson, 152, Akron, in the six-round semi-final.

* * *

Weighing in at 145, Alexander had to give away seven pounds to the rangy Rubber City scrapper and also plenty of reach. Dick had to work his way into Jackson's body before he could d. any damage.

* * *

Alexander landed telling blows in the third and fourth rounds that shook up Jackson. Both boys tired rapidly in the last two rounds although both kept trying to score a knockout.

Lloyd Pine, 145, Akron, a favorite among local fight fans here a few years ago, attempted a comeback last night against Tommy Welch, 145, Delaware but lost a six-round decision.

After starting fast at the opening gong, Pine had a cut opened above his left eye and the rest of the fight saw his face covered with blood.

Although he was badly beaten in the early rounds, he came back for more to give the fans a look at one of the gamest fighters to show here in a long time.

Alfredo Llanes, 126, Monterey, Mexico, and Tiger Wills, Columbus, fought a six-round draw in a fight that didn't pack too much action.

Tribe To Honor Trainer

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The boys are getting together tonight to toss an anniversary party for Trainer Lefty Weisman.

Lefty's friends — and they include everybody from newsboys to bank presidents—began quietly last spring to talk about some fitting observance of his 25th year as a member of the Cleveland Indians.

Previous to the advent of President Bill Veeck the observance promised to be a rather formal affair with Lefty being called to home plate before the game and presented a check after a few well chosen words.

After making a sizable donation to the occasion the new front office boss was shocked when informed of the sober plans for the evening.

"If I'm going to spend that much money I've got to have a little fun," Veeck announced and so he was entrusted with planning the program.

So tonight's show will include fireworks, singing, band music, a parade of fire trucks, a pair of clowning ball players purchased by Veeck and some unannounced features. Incidentally, there'll also be a ball game between the Indians and the Detroit Tigers.

Getting back to baseball, the Indians dropped the series opener to the Tigers yesterday by a count of 3-2 in 10 innings.

Big Al Benton had a no-hitter and a 2-0 lead for seven innings but the Tribe broke loose to deadlock the score in the eighth only to lose out in the overtime stanza.

Bob Feller goes after his 22nd triumph of the season when he opposes the Tigers' Dizzy Trout tonight.

Colonels Take Lead In AA

(By United Press)

Louisville, bounding out of a week-old deadlock with Indianapolis, held the undisputed lead today in the American Association pennant race.

The Colonels, who trailed in second and third place through much of the summer, stepped a full game out in front by drubbing Kansas City last night, 10 to 2. Indianapolis meanwhile lost to Milwaukee, 8 to 4.

Third-place St. Paul slipped another full game to four and a half games behind the leader by dropping a 3 to 2 decision to Columbus, and in the other Association game, Minneapolis walloped Toledo, 9 to 3.

Louisville, using three pitchers, played about evenly with Kansas City for seven innings, then sent eight players around the bases in the last of the eighth for an easy triumph. The new leaders led in hitting, 9 to 7.

PLAY MIAMI

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—(AP)—Football Coach Ernest Kelly of the Air Transport Command Rockets announced today a tentative nine-game football schedule including a game Sept. 28 with Miami university at Oxford, Ohio.

GAME POSTPONED

Tonight's Industrial league softball tilt between Barnes and Humphryes will be postponed since the Barnes club will be playing in the district tournament at Marion.

Legion Juniors Called Out

Mansfield's American Legion junior baseball club will resume practice Wednesday evening at Liberty park starting 5:30.

All members of this year's district championship club plus any players who want to play on the team next year are invited to be on hand.

This Sunday afternoon the Legion club will play at Galion and then will travel to Loudonville on Aug. 31 to play at the Flixible company picnic.

TROT MARE SOLD

WESTBURY, N. Y. — (AP) — Kaola, a six-year-old trotting mare who won the $50,000 Santa Anita grand trot last spring, has been sold by the Hatchell and Bowlar stable of Pinehurst, N. C., to C. B. Jordan of Columbia, S. C., for a reported $20,000.

May Suspend Entire Meet

CLEVELAND—(AP)—An attorney representing the Horsemen's Protective and Benevolent association was expected here today for a conference with officials of the Thistle Down Racing association on the indefinite suspension of the association's scheduled 43-day meeting.

General Manager Bernard E. Rand announced yesterday that the racing secretary's office would remain closed "until a majority of the horsemen request the management to reopen the office and receive their entries. Enough horses must be entered to guarantee a complete racing card."

* * *

The Monday and Tuesday programs were cancelled because an insufficient number of horses were entered.

* * *

The horse owners are demanding that the track management establish an "also eligible" list which would give priority in future races to horses not drawn in the field of 12, the limit of entries at Thistle Down.

Gain Women's Net Finals

Mary Saprano and Vi Gregaria reached the finals of the women's doubles in the city tennis tournament with a 6-0, 6-1 win over Lois Quinlan and Sally Russell.

They'll meet Mary Ettinger and Ruth Isham in the finals this week-end.

In the men's doubles, Myeron Miller and Dick Tapper defeated Sam Radovich and Mike Spagnardi, 6-2, 6-8, 6-2.

Ruth Leicy won by default from Lynn Ross in the women's singles.

Every player should make an effort to get his or her first round match played by tonight and get started on the second round by Thursday if possible.

PRACTICE OFF

Coach Harry Mehock announced today that the junior Olympics track team will not practice tonight as had been planned.

SAN FRANCISCO—(U.P.)—Fred Apostoli, San Francisco, former world middleweight champion, was on the comeback road today after scoring a technical knockout over Pedro Jimmez, Vallejo, Calif.

Otto, Zaharias and Suggs Top Favorites In Women's Tourney

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The 46th annual women's western amateur golf championship tournament reached the first round of match play today, already giving promise of a repeat performance of the 1945 title struggle.

The three top favorites in the field of 32 qualifiers from yesterday's dawn-to-dusk program are the same three who dominated title play a year ago—Phyllis Otto of Atlantic, Iowa, the champ; Mrs. Mildred (Babe Didrikson) Zaharias of Denver, the runner-up, and Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., the medalist who bowed out in the semi-finals.

Miss Suggs, who bagged a one-under-par 36-39—75 to divide this year's medal honors with Miss Otto, meets Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, Mich., who used up 82 strokes in touring The Country club's 6,500-yard layout.

Mrs. Zaharias, decidedly off her game, is matched against Betty Jane Haemerle of St. Louis. Babe finished with an 81—six better than her first round opponent yesterday.

Defending titlist Otto, also the owner of this year's women's intercollegiate crown, meets Mary McMillin of Green Bay, Wis., who had an 82 yesterday.

Another consistent winner in this annual golfing test, Dorothy Germain of Richmond, Ind., the 1943 and '44 winner, is expected to have little trouble with Ann Bruno of Chicago, who finished five strokes behind Dorothy's 81 score.

The most likely "darkhorse" candidates in the field were Claire Doran, a three-time Cleveland champ, and Peggy Kirk of Findlay. Both wound up one-putt of the medalists' mark.

The Clevelander pairs with Eileen Stulb of Augusta, Ga. (82), and Miss Kirk meets Margaret Gunther of Memphis (83).

Davey Back

Davey Reynolds, of Iowa, above, faces Pierre LaBell of Canada in the main bout on Thursday night's wrestling show at the Armory's outdoor arena. Jack Vansky and Ace Abbott go in the semi-final that opens the card at 8:30.

OSL Giants Unruffled

(By Associated Press)

Out in front by four and a half games, Springfield's Giants didn't look particularly worried Tuesday about the next closest nine in the Ohio State league, the once-proud Zanesville Dodgers.

With long Tom Whittaker on the mound Monday night, the Giants showed mastery over the Dodgers for the second night running by easily walloping them, 11 to 3. Outfielded and outhit, Zanesville erred three times and got seven safeties.

The three game series ends at Zanesville Tuesday night.

Leadership of the second division changed again Monday night as Marion regained the spot by defeating Middletown, 4 to 2. The place was yielded by Lima by virtue of its 7 to 1 loss to Richmond's Roses.

Held to two hits, the Dayton Indians lost a 1 to 0 contest to Middletown.

CITY A BOWLING LEAGUE MEETS

Team captains of the City A bowling league have been called for a meeting Wednesday evening at 7.30 at the Colony lanes, Hank Heiser, league secretary, announced today.

A couple vacancies must be filled in the league and any teams interested in entering the league are invited to attend the meeting.

100 Players See Cleveland Game

Nearly 100 young baseball players from Mansfield and surrounding towns were attending the two-day baseball school that opened at Liberty park yesterday.

Under the direction of Scouts Laddie Placek and "Gyp" Lewis of the Cleveland Indians, the school was expected to attract another 100 or so boys from here who yesterday attended the baseball game in Cleveland.

The boys are given instruction in the various fundamentals of the game and then the boys are put on teams and games are played.

CINCINNATI—Eddie Miller, 158, Dayton, Ohio, stopped Gib Jones, 162½, Cincinnati, (10).

North Misses Park Title

North Lake lost a chance to cinch the Park league softball pennant last night by dropping a wild, 14 to 13, decision to Johns park on the latter's diamond. It went only five innings because of darkness.

The defeat left North Lake with a half-game advantage over Prospect and Johns with the final standing depending on the playoff of a tie game between North Lake and Liberty. A North Lake victory would clinch the result. However, if Liberty wins, all four teams would be tied with 6-6 records.

Musial's Hitting Big Help to Cardinals

By JACK HAND, AP Sports Writer.

Stan Musial's slugging spree of 12 hits in his last 14 trips, coupled with the revival of the St. Louis pitching staff, have put the Cards only a half game or one percentage point, back of the National league leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

Of big import to the Cardinal pennant aspirations is the recent form of Pitchers Johnny Beazley and Al Brazle. Manager Eddie Dyer has manipulated his staff all season so as to have Howie Pollet, Harry Brecheen and Murry Dickson ready for the Dodgers and the top teams, only to have Beazley and Brazle fail him in the next series.

Beazley now has two straight wins and Brazle's three-hit, 5-0, job on Chicago yesterday may be an indication of things to come.

The Cubs find themselves daily settling back closer and closer to the fourth-place Boston Braves.

Claude Passeau, who twisted his aching back attempting to field Marty Marion's slow bouncer in the third inning, was the loser as St. Louis came up with three runs in the inning.

* * *

Brooklyn held the lead by rallying with three runs in the seventh inning for a 3-2 decision over New York Giants. Homers by Walker Cooper and ex-Dodger Jack Graham had given Ken Trinkle a 2-0 margin until four singles, a walk and an error by Goody Rosen changed the story.

* * *

Vic Lombardi recorded his ninth in a row over New York. He was lifted for a pinch hitter and Ralph Branca finished.

Cincinnati lost its seventh straight, bowing to Pittsburgh's Ed Bahr, 3-2. The rookie right-hander scattered seven hits, including three doubles by First Baseman Bert Haas, to decision Ed Heusser.

Detroit shaded Cleveland, 3-2, in 10 innings in the only American league tilt, moving to within two games of the second place New York Yankees. Al Benton, who got the verdict, and George Caster teamed up on a three-hit pitching job to defeat Joe Berry.

A scheduled Chicago-St Louis Browns night game was rained out. Others were not scheduled.

Kenny Windsor Hurls No-Hitter For Cabs

Universal Cooler Protest Post 72's Win; Barnes Plays In Semi-Finals Tonight.

MARION—Two Mansfield softball teams—Safety Cab and Post 72—turned in wins in the district softball tournament here last night—but the latter club's win was protested.

Kenny Windsor was in top form again last night as he hurled a no-hitter for the Cabs over Sycamore Hatchery, 1-0.

Striking out 13 batters and walking only two, it appeared for a moment that his mates weren't going to get him any runs.

In the first of the seventh, Hipp beat out a bunt and was sacrificed to second by Berry. After Windsor flied out, "Bud" Kanz then came through with the game-winning double, scoring Hipp with the winners' lone run.

H. Hamman, Sycamore pitcher, gave up only four bingles with Kanz's double and Bob Boyd's double being the only extra base knocks.

* * *

Post 72 turned in a 3-1 win over Universal Cooler of Marion but the home team protested the game over the eligibility of McKinney, Post 72 pitcher.

* * *

The Mansfield nine tallied one run in the second and two more in the fifth before Cooler shoved over their lone run in the seventh.

Richardson, Majors, Reynolds and Luckie doubled for the winners while H. Walker cracked out a triple.

Barnes of Mansfield tangles with the Upper Sandusky Elks tonight in the 9 o'clock game while Smitty's Grill and Phalanx Fraternity, both of Marion, meet in the opener at 8 o'clock.

Browns' Injury List Reduced

BOWLING GREEN—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns' hospital list was cut to two today as Fullback Gene Fekete and Halfback Al Akins returned to practice for the first time in a week.

Only Bob Steuber and Moe Scarry remain idle as Coach Paul Brown sent the pro squad through tough scrimmage sessions at Bowling Green State university.

Fekete had cracked two ribs in a scrimmage session a week ago and Akins sprained his ankle the second day in camp.

CURB EXCHANGE, OHIO, END FUSS

State Wins Right to Explain Reasons For Disapproval of Stock Issues.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Without taking threatened steps to bar New York curb exchange stocks, the Ohio division of securities today wrote off as "closed" its weeks-old quarrel with the exchange over the listing of Kaiser-Frazer shares.

It won from the curb, however, the concession that in the future no stocks would be listed by the New York organization which they knew had been disapproved by Ohio without first inquiring into the reasons for this state's frown.

"Your views will receive the most careful consideration of our committee on listing and, if the exchange decides to list notwithstanding your objections, a statement of our reasons will be forwarded to you," Edwin Posner, curb president, wrote Ernest Cornell, chief of the state securities division.

Scientists Probe Into Mind of Heirens

Preliminary examinations by noted scientists into the mind that changed William Heirens, 17, from a studious, quiet college youth into a killer, have begun in Chicago. Pictured are Dr. Harry Hoffman, state alienist, left, and Dr. William H. Haines, director of the Cook County (Chicago) Behavior clinic, right. Seated center is Heirens with Cook county Sheriff Mulcahey at right.

MODEST GAINS SHOWN IN QUIET STOCK TRADING

Steel and Whisky Shares Register Upswings of About Point.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Stocks pecked out madest gains in quiet forenoon trading today. Steels and whisky shares met good demand and stood out with gains running to about a point.

The dull trading of last week carried over into this morning's deals. In the first hour only 150,000 shares were transferred. The second hour was even quieter.

U. S. Steel was in demand from the opening. Around noon it ruled a point higher. Bethlehem and other steels showed fractional advances. Hiram Walker led the liquor stocks upward with a jump of more than a point.

Modest gains were displayed by motors, mail orders and rubbers. International Telephone was active, about a point higher. Aviations, utilities, rails and oils were irregular and dull. U. S. Gypsum highlighted a quiet building group with a bulge of more than 2 points.

Bonds and curb shares held firm.

MEAT DEALERS OPPOSE PRICE CEILING MOVE

New OPA Control Would Mean Scarcity, Black Market, Say Spokesmen.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The American Meat Institute warned the price decontrol board today that restoration of price ceilings on livestock would mean a return overnight of the black market and a scarcity of meat for consumers.

The institute's views were expressed by its president, Wesley Hardenbergh of Chicago, at the board's second day of hearings to determine whether controls should remain off livestock, dairy products, grains, soybeans and cottonseed after Aug. 20.

Hear 23 Witnesses.

Hardenbergh, one of the 23 witnesses appearing before the board, declared that restoration of meat controls would be "deplorable" for consumers, producers and the meat-packing industry and "most unfortunate for the entire national economy." He added:

"If OPA meat controls ever again are imposed, experience shows that the black marketeers —overnight—will be back in the business of diverting meat away from counters which serve the average consumer and scarcities again will occur.

"The only beneficiaries will be the cheats and the chiselers who are waiting an opportunity to pounce on consumers again.

"Moreover, recontrols in addition to bringing back the black market, with all its crookedness and maldistribution, would discourage production of meat animals for next year when a high level of production is imperative."

Other industry and farm groups take the position that restoration of controls would result in scarcity of meat supplies for consumers.

Consumers Disagree.

Consumer groups, however, stand on the argument that increases in the prices of meat since the lifting of ceilings on June 30 justify the recontrol of livestock and its products.

Members of the decontrol board, meanwhile, expressed satisfaction at the speedy progress of the hearings. The board heard 19 witnesses Monday, and plans to have at least 50 more testify tomorrow and Thursday.

City Opens Its Homes To Workers

Canvassers Report Fast Response for Appeal for Housing.

More than 200 rooms were found yesterday in the Mansfield area for incoming workers in the first day of a two-day campaign, and at least 350 were expected to be made available by tonight.

Spokesmen for the civic committee, heading the campaign for housing 5,000 additional workers needed in the city, said today that the first day of canvassing by 40 women had reached approximately 3,000 homes. Results of today's continued survey, spokesmen said, would determine whether or not the campaign would be extended another day.

The women reported last night that 150 home owners in the city were still undecided about renting rooms to the workers and that they had been given cards on which to report their decisions. The women resumed their drive at 8:30 a. m. today.

CHAIRMAN PLEASED WITH RESULTS

Frank A. Berkey, general chairman of the drive, said today that he was "highly pleased with the results of the first day's campaign," and that persons "in all sections of the city are responding nicely to the campaign." He added that yesterday's campaign found many home owners, who had not rented rooms before, offering spare bedrooms.

C. W. Handley, manager of the U. S. Employment office, said today that residents of two Richland county towns have added to the success of the current drive to list rooms for 5,000 needed work-

COMFORT FOR SABOTEURS: Wright Field, Ohio, officials let out another war secret today. They disclosed that German agents were dropped behind Allied lines in bomb-shaped containers. Three saboteurs were trapped horizontally inside the 490-pound, 10-foot container. When released from a plane, the missile drops in an upright position, its fall slowed by parachutes. First used by the Nazis in 1940, the containers enabled men without jumping experience to be dropped without danger of being separated as in individual jumps.

MOLOTOV RAPS BYRNES FOR 2ND 'INSULT'

Russian Hints U. S., Britain Seek to Hold 'Monopoly' in Mediterranean.

PARIS — (INS) — Russia, nettled by what it considered its second "insult" at the hands of U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, charged by inference today that the United States and Great Britain seek a "monopolistic position" in the Mediterranean.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov spoke of the possible "economic enslavement" of Italy through "foreign capitalistic exploitation."

He took the floor at the Paris peace conference after a parliamentary scrape with Byrnes, who acting as chairman, called upon Ethiopia to speak on the Italian treaty.

The American chief delegate explained that Ethiopia had made its request in writing for a chance to be heard and that that request was made before Molotov put his name on the speakers' list.

Gives Russia Floor.

But then it turned out that Ethiopia was not represented today so Byrnes gave the floor to Russia.

Molotov rose and told Byrnes that he considered himself slighted and insulted.

By inference, Molotov charged that the United States and Great Britain are attempting to use commercial methods to obtain a "monopolistic position" in the Mediterranean.

He declared that such a policy was not "conducive to development of friendly relations between European states and could not serve the interest of lasting peace in Europe."

Molotov raised the alleged possibility of "economic enslavement" of Italy through "foreign capitalistic exploitation."

He declared that the western capitalist nations also included France within their goals. He added:

"Not only France but Italy should feel certain of their positions as Mediterranean states."

Mussolini's Body Found; Youths Held

MILAN —(INS)— The body of Benito Mussolini, former duce of fascist Italy, rested today in Milan's police headquarters while authorities questioned persons suspected of stealing it last April from a pauper's grave.

Police said that Domenico Lecciso, one of three youths suspected of robbing the grave, revealed the body was exhumed on April 22 and taken to a farmhouse a few miles north of Milan. The body remained in the farmhouse some 20 days, then was taken to the St. Angelo monastery where it remained until last Monday.

MOBS OPPOSE DEPORTATION OF REFUGEES

Outlawed Radio Calls Jews to Action as British Halt Immigrants.

HAIFA, Palestine—(AP)—The British deported 1,000 illegal Jewish immigrants to Cyprus today aboard two troopships while mobs of young Jews, aroused by the outlawed Hagana radio, rioted in the troop-filled streets.

But another 650 illegal Jewish immigrants arrived off the harbor of this half-Jewish, half-Arab port aboard the sloop Fenice.

The rioting Jews stoned troops of the British First Infantry division, guarding the docks, and police.

The Hagana radio called on residents of Haifa to "storm the streets" and break the curfew, which the British imposed while the Jews were being loaded for deportation.

Defy Curfew.

Even the Arab quarters in Haifa joined in defiance of the curfew. The Arabs, however, caused little disturbance.

Jewish residents of the city streamed down hillside streets toward the docks a few minutes after the last refugees were loaded.

The British First Infantry division, called into action, quickly threw a cordon around the dock area, but only after nearly 2,000 persons had streamed down King's way which parallels the quays.

The curfew breakers, mostly young men, hurled stones at police and milled around the entrances to the docks.

PLANT SEIZURE AS STRIKE CURE NEARING END

Truman Disagrees With Labor Secretary, Wants to Drop Government Policy.

WASHINGTON —(UP)— President Truman appeared ready to abandon a five-year-old government policy of seizing private property to end strikes.

His stand threatened to widen a breach with Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach and was a direct blow at the CIO and its president, Philip Murray.

It left the problem of how to get the government out of the soft coal mining industry which Mr. Truman seized May 22. The government is operating the mines under a temporary agreement with President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers (AFL).

Indicates Decision.

Mr. Truman himself indicated his decision to change the seizure policy, which has prevailed since President Roosevelt took over North American Aviation company, Los Angeles, June 9, 1941.

In an unprecedented action, Mr. Truman announced he had decided not to seize the nine struck plants of the J. I. Case and Allis-Chalmers farm equipment companies. Heretofore he and Mr. Roosevelt unwaveringly followed the formal seizure recommendations of their top-ranking labor advisers—either the secretary of labor or the war labor board—and there were 79 seizure cases in all.

Schwellenbach had been on record since June 4 for Case and Allis-Chalmers seizure to end a six months' strike by 25,000 members of CIO unions. He charged that neither company had made a sincere effort to settle the dispute.

The CIO's top international executive board and Murray personally appealed to Mr. Truman a month ago to take over the two companies. CIO sources say that the chief executive never acknowledged receipt of the communications.

U. S. LAUNCHES HOSPITAL PLAN

President Signs Legislation Granting 378 Millions to Aid States.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States today launched a far-reaching federal-aid hospital construction program as President Truman signed legislation making available to the states 378 million dollars in government funds over the next five years.

Congress has already appropriated two million, 350 thousand dollars to start off the program, the money to be used to assist the states in making the necessary surveys and plans.

Beginning with the current fiscal year ending June 30, 1947, and for four fiscal years thereafter, the U. S. surgeon general is authorized to distribute to the states on the basis of population and need 75 million dollars annually for hospitals.

In signing the measure, the president said that he is "in full accord" with the objectives of assisting the states in construction of necessary hospital facilities.

However, the president raised an objection to one provision of the bill which he said "is contrary to sound principles of administration in that it sets up a council composed of individuals who are not to be full time officials of the government and authorizes this council not only to advise the surgeon general but to exercise a veto power over certain of his actions."

CHIEF GETS DATA, LEAVES

Ashland Official Hears From FBI on Semler Mystery, Starts on Vacation.

ASHLAND—Police Chief Harry Smith today turned his back on the 12-day-old mystery surrounding the death of Mrs. Kate Semler and began a two-week vacation as Prosecutor C. W. Chorpening revealed that the FBI fingerprint analysis received yesterday would not lead to a verdict.

Chorpening said that a written report on the fingerprint and bloodstain analysis was yet to be received from the FBI and that until he and the county coroner, Dr. A. D. Lewis, of Jeromesville, had a chance to study that report, no verdict would be forthcoming.

Chorpening said today that the report is expected momentarily. An FBI agent from Mansfield was helping to expedite the transmission of the report, he said.

Police Chief Harry Smith last night reversed his plans to postpone his annual two-week vacation after receipt of the fingerprint analysis, and left Ashland early this morning.

Patrolman Lossing Young has been assigned to handle the Semler case in the absence of Chief Smith.

Chorpening said this morning that he and County Coroner Lewis would study the written report on its arrival. He said Lewis probably would issue a verdict based on findings in the report.

THIRD TRIPLET DIES

COLUMBUS — Services were pending today for triplet daughters, born Saturday to Mrs. Samuel L. Winn, the last of whom died Monday.

Victory Day Birthday To Be All-Out Affair

Mansfield and Richland county will go "all out" tomorrow for one of the biggest celebrations ever staged in the city. It will observe the first anniversary of "Victory day."

Although it isn't a legal holiday, Aug. 14 has been officially proclaimed "Victory day" by President Truman. Both the county courthouse and city building will close at noon along with the majority of Mansfield business places.

Final plans for a program celebrating cessation of hostilities on all fronts just a year ago were drawn last night by a V-Day committee of World War II veterans.

Formal Retreat.

Highlighting the program, in which all veterans have been asked to participate, will be a formal retreat ceremony at the flagpole in Central park following a "victory parade" through a section of the city's business district at 6:30 p. m. "Open house" will follow in all veterans' clubs, with a dance at the Legion home.

Occupying the top place of honor during the program will be Mansfield's heroes of Bataan and other former prisoners of war, plus the county's Gold Star mothers.

Four Divisions.

Headed by Marshals William M. Colby and H. R. Crichfield, each one representative of one of the two major theaters of war, the parade will be split up into four large divisions, according to branch of service.

The first division, which will form on Park avenue west between Weldon avenue and the Ohio theater, will have the following order of march: massed national and organizational colors, the heroes of Bataan riding in a jeep, first division marshal Fred Hallabrin, other prisoners of war, Company M of the Ohio State Guard,

SEEKS HIGHWAY AROUND PORT

Auto Club Committee, County Commissioners Schedule Meet on Route 13.

A request for a new State Route 13 around Mansfield's municipal airport will be handed to county commissioners in a meeting between the commissioners and the five-member executive road committee of the Richland County Auto club tomorrow.

The meeting is scheduled for the commissioners' office in the courthouse at 9 a. m., Philip Wolfe, clerk of the commissioners, said.

The auto club requested the meeting after it had been told by Edison W. Ellis, assistant state highway department director at Columbus, that the state "cannot legally expend funds" for the improvement of the present County Road 13-A which replaced former State Route 13 which was abandoned when the airport was built.

The club had asked the state department to provide a new hard-surfaced road to replace the gravel-surfaced County Road 13-A which it considers hazardous and unsuitable for the heavy traffic entering Mansfield from the north.

Harold Gerold, division engineer of the state highway department at Ashland, had previously reported that the state could not take part in providing a new road until the local political subdivision, in this case the commissioners, made a survey and provided land for a right-of-way.

"We understand it's up to the commissioners now and we'd like to ask them to take action. We've received many complaints, particularly from trucking firms and residents of the northern part of the county, about the substitute road and the long detour of Route 13 through Ashland," Jack Berger, secretary of the auto club, said.

MOTOR STRIKE ENDS

DETROIT —(UP)— The Packard Motor Car company began calling its 8,500 workers back to their jobs today, after the United Auto Workers (CIO) announced the end of a week-old strike over seniority and overtime differences. Packard officials said they hoped to be back in full operation by tomorrow.

LINCOLN SANE

Criminologist to Recommend Pen For Cleveland Man.

JOLIET, Ill. — (UP) — Dr. R. G. Barrick, state criminologist, said today that he found no evidence of insanity in preliminary examinations of James F. Lincoln, jr., 29, who has confessed beating and shooting nine-year-old Carol Williams.

Barrick said he would recommend that Lincoln, who has been sentenced to one to 14 years' imprisonment, be sent to Stateville prison.

Barrick said Lincoln had above average intelligence and had "cooperated in every way" in the tests. Lincoln is the son of a wealthy Cleveland industrialist.

BURGLARS GET 60 SWEATERS

Women's Clothing Valued at $250 Reported Stolen at Vogue Shop.

Burglars broke into the Vogue ladies' wear shop, North Main street, yesterday and stole from four to five dozen women's sweaters valued at $250, police reported.

They said that entry was probably made through a window which was unlocked. One door was locked and another had heavy equipment behind it preventing its being used for entrance, officers said.

J. S Roth, manager, said that he discovered the theft when he opened the shop.

Water Again Flowing Into Dnieper Dam

MOSCOW — (INS) — Water flowed into Russia's great Dnieper dam today for the first time since the war.

Actually, it was "scorched" twice. The Soviet army destroyed it before retreating in front of the German advance, and then the Nazis wrecked their own repairs as they withdrew from Russian soil late in the war.

However, there are many repairs still to be made.

HOUSE PROBERS CHECK FIELDS

Seek Reason For Ex-Convict's Success in Securing War Surplus Property.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A house investigating committee attempted today to learn whether Benjamin F. Fields, ex-convict and self-styled Washington public relations man, distributed "special favors" in obtaining his surplus property.

William J. Gilrein former sales manager in the Philadelphia office, War Assets Administration, was expected to be called to the witness stand to explain how Fields was able to obtain 53,900 linear feet of bronze wire screens when his order was submitted 10 days too late.

Anthony J. Flood, Upper Darby, Pa., a Philadelphia office official, testified that Gilrein personally handed him Fields' order and quoted Gilrein as stating that he'd forgotten to give it to him before.

Lacked Certification.

Flood testified further that by an "over-sight" on his part, the order was filled although it lacked the necessary certification that Fields was entitled to purchase war surplus goods.

Hugh Wise, jr., committee counsel, said Gilrein was subsequently dismissed by the Philadelphia office but did not know whether it was in connection with the Fields' transaction.

Fields testified that he sold the wire screens to War-Bilt Homes, Oklahoma City, for $8,085, plus a $4,000 commission for himself and his associates.

Carries Too Much Silver, Goes To Jail

By JOHN MINE

While silver dollars are common "legal tender" in the far west, in this not-so-wild and woolly city of Mansfield, pardner, they're a strange sight. Especially if a 17-year-old lad is totin' them around.

So if you wrap together the facts: A boy with 49 silver dollars, traveling from Wyoming to Connecticut, without ample identification, you can see why police held him for questioning.

But the holding of the lad for questioning and his 17-hour stay in city jail led to all sorts of complications—and Police Chief Meade K. Bates, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Detective Bruce Friday are today busy writing letters to the boy's father.

It seems that the youth's father, an editor on the Wall Street Journal, just couldn't understand why police here decided to detain his son for questioning.

He sent bitter letters to Bates, Vaughn and, incidentally, to the News-Journal.

But Bates explained it this way:

The boy was picked up about 10:30 p. m. on East Fourth street

It's a Habit!--Auto Prices to Jump Again

WASHINGTON—(AP)—OPA went to work today on still another boost in automobile prices—one slated to push to around 25 per cent the total average hike over 1942 ceilings.

With authorized prices already about 22 per cent higher than the level of four years ago, OPA officials met with dealer representatives to thresh out the amount of the next increase.

Like the average 7.3 per cent boost piled yesterday on top of a previous 15 per cent rise, the imminent additional price hike is required by the new price control law.

Yesterday's increases, ranging from $62 to $322 a car, restored dealers' prewar profit margins, as ordered by congress. OPA had cut these before the controversy began over whether to keep the price control agency in existence.

Dealers Get Boost.

Now OPA has to re-establish dealers' prewar handling charges, which it also reduced. These charges cover the expense of a final check-up on new cars.

OPA officials previously had estimated that the handling charge adjustment would require a further 5 per cent increase in retail ceilings. Today they revised this downward to about 3 per cent.

The auto price increase on tap will be the fifth on top of 1942 ceilings since last November.

In addition to yesterday's profit-restoring increase, there have been boosts to offset (1) a rise in labor and materials costs during the war, (2) wage increases granted early this year, and (3) higher steel prices authorized in February.

Bares Weird Medical Experiments By Nazis

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A special war department investigator revealed today new crimes committed by Nazi scientists and doctors, including the stripping of flesh from Jews to provide a medical museum with skeletons.

Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, official of the University of Illinois medical department, described weird experiments by Germans in the medical and scientific field to a news conference upon his return from Germany where he was sent by Secretary of War Patterson. He sought data needed to secure conviction of the guilty at trials.

Ivy said that there were two classes of crimes, experimental and non-experimental. He related the following as an example of the latter:

"A scientist wanted 100 skeletons of specific sizes for a medical museum. He picked out 100 Jews, killed them, stripped their flesh off, and had the skeletons needed to complete the museum collection."

Ivy said the Nazis gave German women medicines prepared to result in births of twins rather than one child; grouped male prisoners of war in large rooms and castrated them, and forced imprisoned women to undergo "physical examinations" during which they were made sterile.

Ivy declared that despite barbarity of Nazi methods nothing was discovered that the Allies had not learned by ethical studies.

DEATH PROBED

Producer's Wife Dies After Cutting Arm Tendon.

SANTA MONICA, Calif—(AP)—Police today began a coroner-requested investigation into the operating table death yesterday of the wife of Broadway Producer Michael Todd, who had filed suit for divorce less than a week ago.

Mrs. Bertha Todd, 39, died of a heart attack in St. John's hospital as she was about to undergo surgery to suture a severed tendon in her right hand, said her physician, Dr. Stanley Imerman.

had been loaded and got under way.

Approximately 500 illegal Jewish immigrants who had spent 32 hours aboard a ship anchored in the harbor within sight of their "promised land" were the first to sail this morning.

The sailing was in accordance with an announcement last night in London that the British government intended to halt all illegal immigration to Palestine and that Jews arriving in Palestine ports without proper papers would be removed to Cyprus or some other detention point.

Those aboard the first deportation ship were passengers from the dingy little auxiliary schooner Yagur, which arrived here only yesterday after a trip from southern France.

After being debarked from the Yagur, the refugees walked along 50 feet of dockside under the guard of British soldiers and then moved up the gangplank of the British troopship Empire Royal.

The refugees were advised by loudspeaker at dawn of their impending transfer to the Empire Royal and were urged by British officers to go peaceably aboard the Empire Royal, where they were promised fair treatment.

An hour later, however, the immigrants had made no move to comply, and British troops boarded the Yagur and forced them to quit the ship.

Cries of "Fascisti" and "Nazi" arose from the refugees during the transfer.

The Empire Royal was equipped with barbed wire cages for the voyage.

Approximately 540 more immigrants from the refugee ship Henrietta Szold were to be loaded later in the day aboard the troopship Empire Heywood for the 16-hour trip to Cyprus.

There the refugees will be housed in camps which originally were built for German prisoners of war.

Most of the refugees from the Yagur appeared sullen. Only a few, however, offered resistance and had to be carried aboard.

The docks bristled with heavily armed troops and armor during the ship-to-ship transfer. All Haifa had been placed under strict curfew beginning at 1 a. m.

Nearly a dozen tank destroyers were among the armor in evidence.

Army Smashes Family Black Market Ring

An international black market ring, involving five members of a New York City family, was uncovered when the army apprehended two members of the family in Berlin and Paris. The five involved were identified as David Warner and his four sons, Alfred, Lewis, Oscar and Robert. Standing, left to right, are Robert, a former navy lieutenant and now employed by UNRRA in Shanghai; Lewis, a former air corps lieutenant who was a civilian employe of the American Airlines in Berlin; Oscar, a former naval lieutenant who recently started an importing business in Paris. Seated are Alfred, left, and David Warner. The father was a rug importer. One official estimated that "if the business had gone on for one year the profit would have been $2,000,000. the McVey Post Legion band, all other army veterans, and the army recruiting team.

The second division, forming on Park avenue west between the Ohio theater and Bowman street, will include navy, marine, and civic units in the following march order:

The McVey Post Legion drum and bugle corps followed by division Marshal Robert E. Rogers, navy and marine veterans, police department veterans in uniform, fire department veterans in uniform, and navy and marine recruiting teams.

In charge of the third division, comprising women's services and organizations, will be Mary Jane Bellore as division marshal. She will form her marchers on Sturges avenue off Park avenue west in the following order of march:

Shelby Legion band followed by the division marshal and army and navy nurses, WAVES and Marines, WACS, Gold Star mothers in cars, and disabled veterans in cars.

Civic groups comprising the fourth division will form on Marion avenue off Park avenue west, led by Mansfield Senior high school band, followed by division Marshal George Herring, Boy Scouts, Blue Star mothers, Navy mothers in cars, WAC mothers in cars, civic floats and other groups. ers in Mansfield by notifying his office of available rooms.

"We have already received a notice of several rooms available in Shiloh and Lucas and we hope to receive more from other communities," Handley said.

"Through the use of The News-Journal blank forms alone, we were able to place six persons from other towns in rooms yesterday," he added.

Approximately 440 persons contacted the office yesterday, either by telephone or personal call, to inquire about jobs. Many of these calls were from neighboring towns, while others came from points as far distant as Cincinnati. Towns represented in the increased traffic job requests included Norwalk, Mt. Gilead, Galion, Marion, Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon and Jackson.

Handley said he would begin certifying men to homes that have responded with rooms as soon as a complete list of rooms have been compiled from the drive. He said that this would probably be the latter part of the week.

"Our success in recruiting workers to meet the labor shortage in Mansfield is dependent upon the success of the 'rent a room campaign,'" the employment office manager explained.

Berkey said that the rental rates per week of rooms have been found to vary with districts in the city. The average rates found in a survey by the civic committee were $4 to $5 for single room and $7 to $8 for a double room.

WILLIAM FOX

BUCYRUS — Funeral services were held this morning at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home for William Fox, 75, lifelong resident of Chatfield. He died in the Crawford county hospital Sunday. Burial was in the county cemetery.

Mr. Fox was unmarried. His only survivor was a sister, Mrs. Charles Whatman of near Tiro.

Carries Too Much Silver, Goes To Jail

Sunday, Aug. 4. He told officers his name was "Tobe" Self. A social security card he was carrying, however, identified him as "Hartwell C." Self.

He told officers that he'd been in Wyoming working on a ranch, got tired of washing dishes and scrubbing floors and decided to come home. As "souvenirs" of his far west jaunt he brought along 49 silver "cartwheels".

Because the two names didn't jibe and because the boy was carrying the money, police decided to check state police and other law enforcement officials to see if the money had possibly been stolen.

It hadn't been, and the boy was released. But not before he "sold" several of the silver dollars to police officers—who also wanted them for souvenirs.

Although the father's letters were bitter, a note from the boy to Detective Friday was congenial. He told Friday that he "arrived safely" invited him to visit him if he ever gets to New Canaan, Conn. and said he managed to get back home with "$39 silver dollars left."

BODY ENDS MYSTERY

CONNEAUT—(NS)—A two-year mystery of the whereabouts of a 78-year-old Conneaut woman was solved today. A body identified as that of Mrs. Vesta Speer was washed ashore on Pymatuning reservoir near Linesville, Pa., and discovered by a group of young campers.

THE ARMY HAS A GOOD JOB FOR YOU!

NON-COMMISSIONED GRADES NOW OFFERED TO FORMER ARMY OCCUPATIONAL SPECIALISTS

GOOD jobs in non-commissioned grades are being offered now by the Regular Army to qualified former servicemen!

Veterans discharged on or after May 12, 1945, who enlist or reenlist for three years may be enlisted in the non-commissioned grade for which qualified, provided this grade is not higher than that held at time of discharge, and provided that at least six months of former service was in one of 400 designated military occupational specialties in which enlistment is now desired.

Important, interesting jobs are open in hundreds of skills and trades in the Army, with splendid training and educational advantages! These are in addition to free food, housing, clothing, medical and dental care, low-cost insurance.

Never has the fine profession of soldiering offered so much. You have the advantages of the new higher pay scale, and the Army offers a perfect opportunity for rapid advancement!

Twenty years from now, you'll still be a young man. Yet, if you choose to make the Army a career, you'll be eligible to retire then at half pay for the rest of your life! In thirty years, you can retire at three-quarters pay! In the case of a Master Sergeant, this is up to $185.63 a month for life!

There's adventure, travel, education, a secure and profitable future in this vital, realistic profession. Get full details—today—at your nearest U. S. Army Recruiting Station or Army Post, Camp or Station.

Highlights of Regular Army Enlistment

1. Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (1-year enlistments permitted for men now in the Army with 6 or more months of service.)

2. Enlistment age from 18 to 34 years inclusive (17 with parents' consent) except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.

3. A reenlistment bonus of $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service, provided reenlistment is within 3 months after last honorable discharge.

4. Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged to reenlist.

5. Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.

6. GI Bill of Rights benefits assured for men who enlist on or before October 5, 1946.

7. Choice of branch of service and overseas theater (of those still open) on 3-year enlistments.

Pupils Vie for Prizes With 117 Garden Projects

BATTLE FLOODS TO RAISE FOOD AND FLOWERS

City School Children Show Perseverence in Completing Work Despite Handicaps.

By ARTHUR ANDERSON

"Daddy, may I have a garden of my own?" might have asked a small, hopeful voice.

Or maybe if he was one of those resourceful little chaps that has already learned to use child-like angles the question might have been something like this

"Daddy, Jimmy is going to raise a garden in the school contest this year—could I have one, too?"

Anyway it's questions like these that Mansfield parents hear early each spring and back of them is the annual Brinkerhoff school fund garden contest

This year, even though handicapped by a late, wet spring and two cloudbursts in June that washed out 25 children's gardens, the contest is closing with 117 garden projects completed

"Twelve of the youngsters replanted their gardens three times this year," Mrs A M Colby, chairman of the school garden program, said.

* * *

ILLNESS FORCED SOME OUT OF RACE

"Some of the children dropped their projects because of the weather, and chicken-pox and mumps that struck just as school was closing caused a few more to drop out," she added

The greatest amount of interest this summer was shown in the Prospect school district, where 23 gardens were completed, Mrs Colby said.

A tour of some of the top ranking gardens yesterday revealed, however, that there are good gardens in all sections of the city.

Outstanding among this year's gardens are those of Sherry Fike, 3 France avenue; Robert Wixon, Bohland road, Mary Ellers Boyd, Linden road, James Willard, Parkwood boulevard, Dean Wells, 402 South Main street, Billy Kostoff, 161 West Sixth street, John Merschdorf, Millsboro road, and Robert Johnson, 788 Lexington avenue.

"One of the gratifying things about our school garden program is that some of those in the contests in former years have gone on to study or work in gardening or in fields closely allied with it such as botany, greenhouse work and the florist business," Mrs Colby explained

Recommendations for prize winners are now being made ready for presentation to the Mansfield board of education, but the prizes won't be awarded until after school starts, Mrs Colby said.

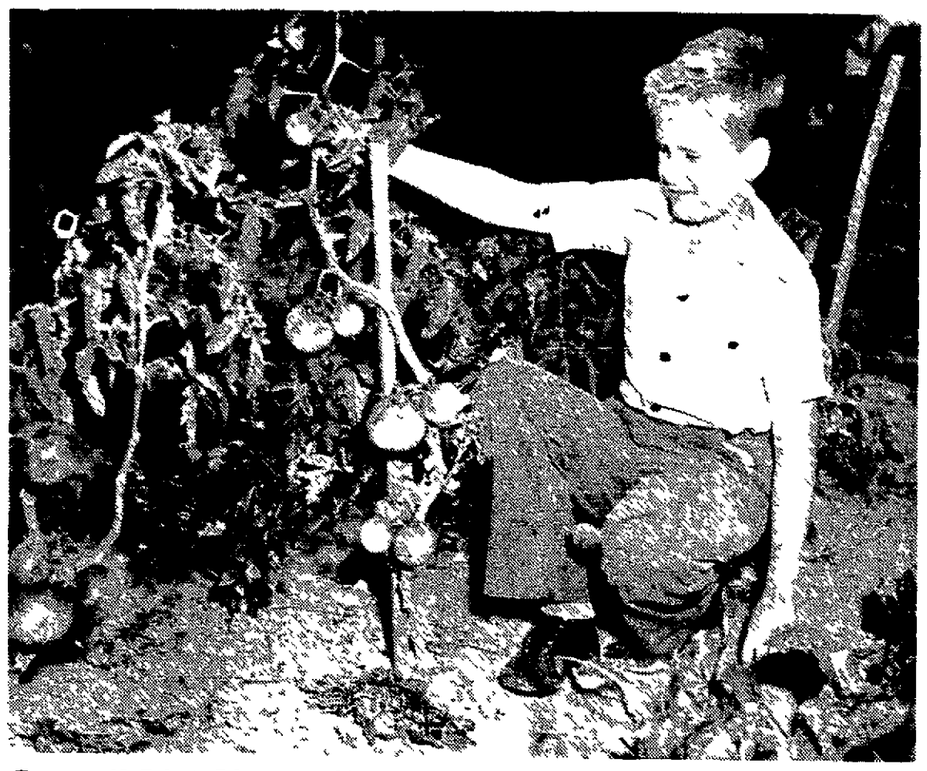
* * *

AWARDS TO BE MADE SOON

Usually the awards are made at the first PTA meetings of the various schools after the beginning of the term, she added

The PTA association of each school appoints one woman to supervise the gardens in that district This year's supervisors are Mrs James Keith, Western Avenue school, Mrs James Eberly, Woodland school, Mrs M J. Esto, West Fifth school, Mrs Robert Eilenfeld, Hedges school, Mrs Arthur Diemer, Carpenter school, Mrs Lester Remy, Prospect school, Mrs Arthur Smith, Brinkerhoff school, Mrs Leo Karsmizki, Newman school, and Mrs M A Mihalick, Bowman school district

Seven garden clubs participated in this year's program They included the Mansfield Garden club, Johnny Appleseed, Town and Country, Astowela, Garden Study, Cottage Garden club and the Linnaeus Garden club.



Ten-year-old Robert Johnson of 788 Lexington avenue is one of the 117 Mansfield youngsters who completed garden projects this year in the Brinkerhoff school garden contest. Robert proudly displays one of his tomato plants as evidence of the success of his garden. Holding a 70-year-old hoe that belonged to her grandfather and a basket of onions which she raised, Sherry Fike, 11, of 3 France street, at the left, poses for her picture in the center of her garden. Flooded out twice by run-off water from Lumbermens Heights, Sherry's third planting bears evidence of a natural love of gardening and hours of work spent in it this summer.

BUILDING COST SOARS

CINCINNATI —(GNS)— Cincinnati today abandoned plans for a new central stores building at the General hospital because building costs have gone up 400 per cent in two years. The building was planned in June, 1944, to cost $72,000. Last week when bids were submitted the cost had risen to $370,000.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills. —Adv

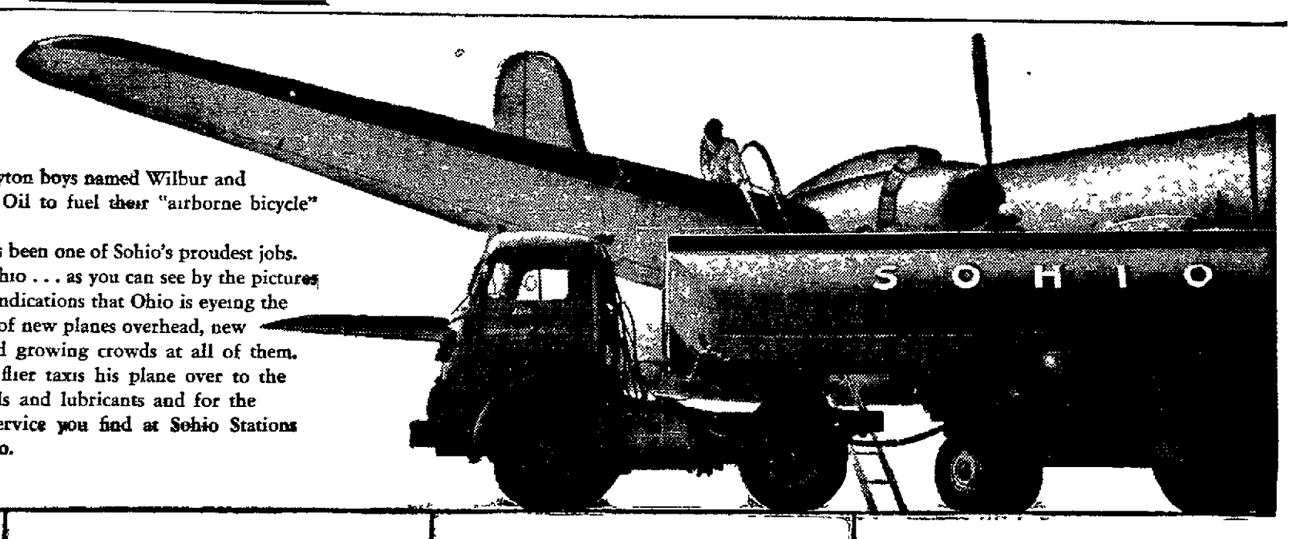
The care and feeding of Sky Giants

On December 17, 1903 a couple of Dayton boys named Wilbur and Orville Wright called on Standard Oil to fuel their "airborne bicycle" for its flight at Kittyhawk.

Ever since then, serving Ohio aviation has been one of Sohio's proudest jobs. And today it's a BIG job . . . here in Ohio . . . as you can see by the pictures below. What's more, there are other indications that Ohio is eyeing the skies more than ever these days . . . lots of new planes overhead, new airports sprouting all over the map, and growing crowds at all of them. Already, at many fields, the private flier taxis his plane over to the SOHIO hangar for aviation fuels and lubricants and for the same kind of friendly, efficient service you find at Sohio Stations on every highway in Ohio.



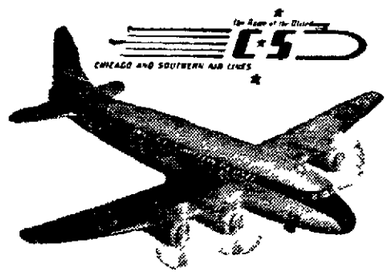
All of these Airlines serving Ohio fly with Sohio Aviation Products

New "Starliners" of Trans World Airline are record-breaking Lockheed Constellations. Scheduled Ohio stops on TWA's coast-to-coast flights are Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, Cincinnati.

American Airlines adopts the luxurious new 4-engined Douglas. From Cleveland, Columbus, or Cincinnati it's just "overnight" to Mexico City by "Flagship", and just a day to the capitals of seven European countries!

Now . . . 4-engined "Mainliners"! United Air Lines' busy schedule of more than 70 daily flights from Ohio put Cleveland and Toledo on the "Mainline" to important cities east and west.

"The Capital Airline" fleet flies big, fast Douglas DC-4's—provides frequent service from Akron, Cleveland and Youngstown to key cities east and west.

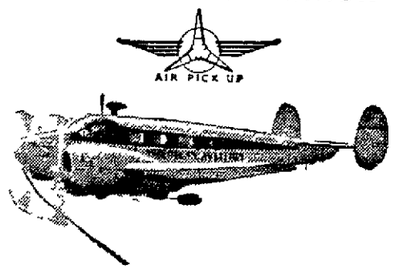


Chicago and Southern Air Lines' handsome new DC-4's provide convenient service between Chicago and Detroit and principal cities of the south and southwest. Their Ohio port is Toledo.

Cincinnati folks who want to go south or northwest in a hurry, in comfort, can board a sumptuous "Deltaliner" of Delta Air Lines Delta, too, is proud of its new Douglas DC-4's.

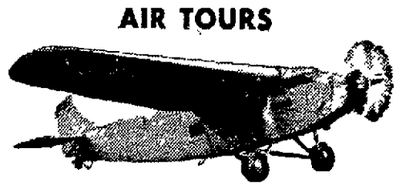
"No riders!" For U. S. Airlines is a busy freight service, carrying all types of express cargo east and west from Cleveland . . . many tons a day.

ALL AMERICAN AVIATION



With its unique air pick-up system by which air mail and air express are collected and delivered non-stop, All American Aviation, Inc., provides daily, direct service to 13 Ohio communities.

AIR TOURS



Flying mail, passengers and cargo between Port Clinton and the islands of northwestern Lake Erie are the four sturdy Ford Tri-motor planes of Air Tours, Inc.

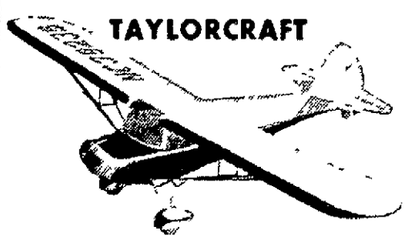
AERONCA

Middletown, Ohio, is home of Aeronca Aircraft Co. Aeronca's "Champion" and "Chief" models are being snapped up as fast as they roll off the assembly line.

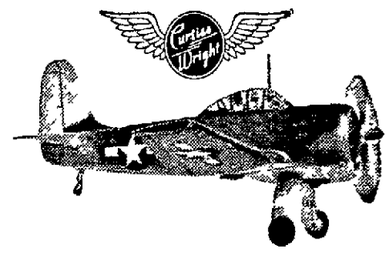
TAYLORCRAFT



Taylorcrafts are "hatched" in Alliance, Ohio There's a backlog of orders for Taylorcraft, too . . . Standard and Deluxe two place models and the four-place "Tourist".

WACO AIRPLANES

"What's up" in Troy, Ohio? Famed maker of cabin biplanes. Waco Aircraft Co., is now tooling up for production of its new personal plane which will be on the market this Fall.



From Columbus come the Navy's powerful Curtiss SC-1 "Seahawks", which began their action shortly before the war ended A new model of the "Seahawk" is now in production at the Columbus Curtiss-Wright plant.

That new "HI" in Sohio pokes up through the sky!

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 1946

Between atom bombs and earthquakes, future predictions of "the end of the world" may sound more convincing.

Better look at the publication date before being seriously impressed by a magazine article titled: "How to Bring Up a Family of Five on $18 a Week."

A jet-propelled automobile with a cruising speed of 130 miles an hour is being promised—and will probably be warmly welcomed by some of the nit-wit drivers who consider 60 or 70 miles an hour entirely too slow.

What's to Be Done About China?

SERIOUSNESS of the turmoil in China is brought forcefully to public notice by appearance of agreement among close-up observers that peaceful settlement of differences between Communists, on the one side, and supporters of Chiang Kai-chek, on the other, appear impossible.

Extent to which the United States is justified in going to prevent, or quell, civil strife in China, becomes a debatable question, hinging largely on the attitude of this country in the matter of policing and rehabilitating the entire world.

Some interesting views on this subject are presented in an article prepared for International News Service by Congressman Fred L. Crawford, Republican, of Michigan, who has just returned from a trip around the world.

In his opinion the United States has two courses open in China, in following either of which "we must face the consequences." We can either carry out a program of assistance and aid, with maintenance of military forces in China, or we can withdraw completely.

"We have just spent 400 billion dollars in a war that was supposed to save democracy." he says—and then asks—"Are we prepared to spend hundreds of billions more to complete the whole job, and of course effectively assist China?"

It is Congressman Crawford's belief that China is not ready for democracy, that it has been for centuries controlled by despots, war lords and religion, all building their glory and power at the expense of the people. "It is possible that a benevolent dictatorship would be the best government for China," he suggests.

The concluding paragraphs of Congressman Crawford's article present thoughts that, in somewhat similar form, are in the minds of many Americans:

"To claim that the United States is the arsenal for democracy with respect to human beings and blood, dollars and materials, and other physical contributions is to overlook the outstanding and fundamental fact that God Almighty imposes upon other people responsibilities the same as upon the nationals of the United States.

"If the oppressors of other peoples and other lands are to continue to follow a course which forces their nationals to suffer economically and socially, then upon what basis can there be found a sufficient amount of strength among the people of the United States to solve the economic problems of the peoples in other parts of the world?"

Bilbo Unfitted for Place In Senate

SENATOR BILBO, of Mississippi, is so thoroughly misrepresentative of everything that America is supposed to stand for that it may be wondered why he is tolerated by men who are compelled to associate with him in the United States senate.

Except that Mississippi has a reputation for being the most backward of the southern states, with many of its residents appearing to feel that they are still somehow apart from the union, representation by such a man as Bilbo seems preposterous.

Some of the people in Mississippi are ashamed of that state's status, and it was said by Hodding Carter, Pulitzer prize winner, and publisher of the Greenville, Miss., Times, that Mississippi ranks "at or near the bottom of the list in literacy, control of venereal disease, income per person, public health, and in punishing crimes of violence, including lynching."

Bilbo admits membership in the Ku Klux Klan, which foments race hatred, bigotry and violence and the preachments and practices of which violate all commonly accepted ideas of good citizenship.

It is the constitutional right of senators to judge qualifications and acceptability of senate membership and it would appear reasonable to turn down Bilbo and demand that Mississippians send another man—assuming that no worse selection could be made.

Public Conveyances Gaining Favor

EXAMPLES of traffic congestion, even in cities of Mansfield's size, tend to create interest in the prediction by Col. Henry L. Swift, nationally known traffic expert, that the day is coming when people will find it more advantageous to depend on public conveyances for downtown trips than on the family car.

The local traffic jam experienced on the days of the airport dedication, July 20 and 21, gave a hint of what may be expected with increasing frequency as more millions of cars are added to the national total.

Col. Swift envisions a time when a minimum of 50,000,000 private automobiles will be owned by Americans, which means, he says, that city streets and available parking facilities could not possibly handle all of the traffic.

He finds that each automobile carries only an average of 1.7 persons, thus requiring 29 cars to transport 50 people, all of whom could be accommodated in one good-sized public conveyance which would occupy comparatively little street space.

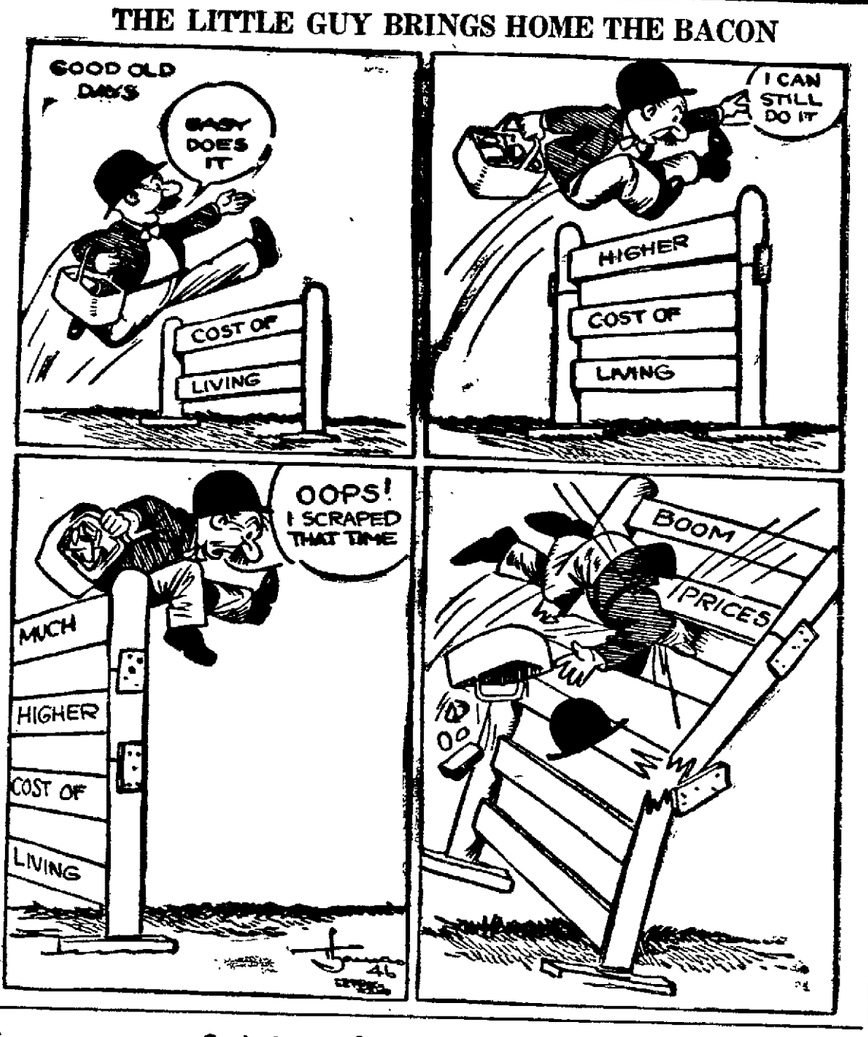
Even with parking meters designed to discourage long-time parking in business areas, need for conveniently located municipal parking lots in Mansfield is continuing to grow and indications are that within another year traffic problems will become even more complex in this area—unless something is done about it.

Volcano's Ashes Improve Soil

PARICUTIN, Mexico's new volcano, born only three years ago, may be an asset to Mexico. Its ash, spread over a vast area of farms and forest, will, when mixed with the soil, bring remarkable fertility.

Just now Paricutin's chief advantage is its boom to tourist trade, but it may some day become a permanent blessing to Mexican agriculture.

THE LITTLE GUY BRINGS HOME THE BACON



Survey of Northwestern States Shows Republican Gains Likely

By RAYMOND MOLEY

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—As this column is resumed after two weeks a few general political observations are in order. I have traveled by automobile from Chicago to California. There were stops for political observations in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Montana, Washington and Oregon. Special note was taken concerning the contests for house and senate seats. It is too early to venture into the hazards of predictions. A large number of the contestants are just getting home from Washington, and things will not warm up for a month or more. Only those whose business is politics and those who delude themselves with wishful thinking will venture a guess as to the complexion of the next Congress. But of one thing we can be sure. There will be large and significant changes.

MOLEY

Over the nation twelve senators with wishful thinking will venture a guess as to the complexion of the next Congress. But of one thing we can be sure. There will be large and significant changes.

Over the nation twelve senators will be replaced with new faces. At last reckoning, five members of the senate have been defeated. And seven have retired. It is certain that a number of others will be defeated for election.

Let us hazard the guess that at least sixteen or eighteen new senators will appear when congress assembles next January. That is enough to affect very considerably the general atmosphere of the upper house.

What will these new senators be like? On the basis of what I saw and heard on this trip, and from other information, a few generaliations can be made. These new members will be younger than the average in the senate. Most of them will have war records. Those who will bear the label of Republican will take party affiliation lightly. They will be more favorable toward broad internationalism than those whom they replace.

It may well be that a considerable reorientation of the two parties will gain momentum in the next two years. That, among other things, makes it certain that speculation as to the identity of the next Republican presidential candidate is very unwise at this time. The party may drift toward new blood and a candidate who is not now among those who are being talked about. The house of representatives will be changed perhaps to a lesser degree than the senate.

It is too early to tell whether the Republicans will control the house. That question rests with what happens in 40 or 50 close contests in 20 to 30 states. In the states mentioned above I found that Republicans have a good good chance to capture three or four seats now held by Democrats.

There seemed to be no district in which a Democrat could displace a Republican. Wisconsin and Oregon will probably send solid Republican delegations to the house.

In Minnesota at least one of the two Democrats will be succeeded by a Rpublican. There is a fair chance for a change in one seat in Montana. Republicans seem justifiably hopeful of taking two seats in Washington from the Democrats. The Coffee episode has seriously shaken Democratic ascendency in that state.

In all these states there is very little political interest and excitement. Later, when the crops are in, people may turn their minds to political issues. Now, everybody is busy with harvest or other employment.

The big fight over the OPA has left people confused. The cost of living may not be the big issue. It will be difficult to place the blame.

Dave Boone Says:

HARRY TRUMAN says "inganation" is a $10 word and strictly Republican. No Democrat would think of using it, he declares.

* * *

Well, "inganation" is a new word on us too. Webster says it means deception. The president was accused of it in connection with his budget estimate and talk of economies. If it's a good word to use in such connections, then there's been a lot of ingannation in the last decade and you might say Washington was about most inganating place on earth.

Every time there's any promise of budget balancing and economy, another bill for a few billion dollars is passed and signed.

I look for an extra "inganating" year with continued "inganations" for a long spell to come.

Regarding a new tuberculosis sanatorium, we need it and the voters are in favor of it. Why not contact the commissioners of Ashland and Crawford counties and make it a tri-county sanatorium?

One building would serve the three counties, save the taxpayers money, and give better service than three smaller ones.

County homes and children's homes built to serve three counties also seems to me to be a sensible idea.

After reading the articles in the Sunday News-Journal concerning what some of our leading citizens had to say about juvenile delinquency, I must say that I believe they are on the right road but I do not think they have gone far enough to stop the real damage that is being done.

If the citizens would assume their full responsibility and curb or eradicate the liquor traffic, the parents would have to become sober enough to realize their responsibility as parents and see that they have good, clean recreation in their own home.

Mr. Troll was correct when he questioned the ability of some to provide recreation. If the people were to quit spending their time and money in night clubs and booze joints, they would have the money to supply the needs of their children.

Farmer's Diary

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

A "REAL FARMER"

SEVEN miles from our home, out among the hills, I met a real farmer. Stopping to inquire the way, at a farmhouse three miles off, a woman told me—and her face lit up—"Turn right at the second crossroads. It's the third farmhouse on the left."

I had the two 4-H boys along and the third boy, too, as trailer. We were hunting a place to buy two registered lambs. We drove along a narrow hilly valley and the farm we were seeking appeared in the hollow before us.

It had rained heavily and all the low spots of highway and roadside ditches were full of muddy water. The farm land sloped, on both sides of the narrow valley, with its narrow strips of varied crops half a mile in length. The house—a roomy old-time, comfortable dwelling—sat in a grassy, newly cropped lawn beside a never-failing spring of soft water. A fertile garden stretched from house to barn.

There was a sense of order and purpose in what we looked upon that made us comfortable and happy and satisfied, before we even asked ourselves the reason why.

The owner was at the barn. A neighbor boy directed us, and led the way. He took time out to show us the things of interest. His flock of 100 ewes—a Montana breed—rested in the shade beneath a big straw shed. These plump contented animals were an unusual sight. On the floor above, he led us through the large space where his chickens ranged—never permitted outside. Feed, in small gravity-fed bins, was built into the west wall. Monstrous bins of oats and wheat were there—and still more grain in sheds outside.

"How many acres do you farm?" I asked.

"A hundred fifty-four—but acres don't mean much. It's what an acre will yield that makes the difference."

"And with heavy oats at 100 bushels to the acre, you haven't reached the limit of your land," I finished.

"Of course this was a good year," he admitted. "But through a ten-year average, I guess it's run 80 for oats and wheat as high as 35. Yes, I do all the work, myself, except that the girl drives tractor sometimes."

"Do you have any children?"

"No—well, yes—we have a kind of self-established orphans' home. We need the children—they need us. It works out fine."

I wondered as I left why more farmers do not get as much material value and spiritual uplift from their job, as he. (We bought the lambs.)

Gen. Mark Clark Has Outsmarted Russians; His Tactics May Be Key to Proper Policy.

PEARSON—GEN MARK CLARK

VIENNA — (By Cable) — The place where the United States and Russia have come closest to grips is not Berlin but Austria.

Here the Red army got in first and for a time it kept the other Allies out. Here the Soviets immediately appointed their own Austrian government and expected to run it and here—in a little country almost completely surrounded by Russian-dominated Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary—Moscow planned to establish its economic capital for the Danube.

PEARSON

The amazing thing is that with all the cards stacked in their favor the Reds have completely failed. This is due partly to the ruthlessness of the Red army, which has alienated everyone it has come in contact with, and partly it is due to the shrewdness of an American general who has outsmarted the Russians at every turn. His tactics are worth studying. They may be the key which the United States should adopt in other areas, perhaps even as a national policy.

Vienna, of course, is the most famous city in history when it comes to Oriental invasions. For centuries, armies from Asia have swept up the Balkan peninsula or across the Caucasus in attempts to conquer all Europe—only to be stopped at Vienna.

The Turks came to the very gates of Vienna before they were turned back. The Mongols got as far as Budapest and left behind them the Magyars of Hungary. The Slavs penetrated most of the Balkans but never Austria. Now Vienna is the battleground for another historic invasion—a new Slavic penetration, waving not the banner of the czar but slogans of Communism and determined to swallow Austria and use it as the springboard to the Adriatic, Italy and southwest Europe.

Clark Checked Russians.

The man who has chiefly checked this latest invasion is tall, ramrod-built Gen. Mark Clark, who, three years ago, landed at Casablanca, fought his way up through Italy, and now commands a small but determined American army in Austria. On the other side of Austria, a Russian army four times as large as the American force occupies a much larger slice of the nations while French and British armies occupy the rest of Austria. Here in the city of Vienna meets the Allied council—the real rulers of this beleaguered little nation.

Under the Declaration of Moscow, the Allied council is charged with the building up of Austria on the ground that its people were thrown into war by Hitler without their consent, and that a healthy Austria is also healthy for a democratic Europe.

Although the Soviet was a 100-per-cent subscriber to this doctrine, its general on the Vienna Allied commission has followed exactly the opposite policy.

Aside from shooting at American airplanes, stealing U. S. jeeps, murdering occasional American M. P.'s and blocking U. S. army transportation, the Russians also have followed a painstaking policy of wrecking the Austrian economy. This is where Clark and the Russians have vigorously come to grips.

At the start of the occupation, for instance, the Russians demanded 900,000,000 schillings to pay for Red army costs in Austria. Since Austria must also pay U. S., British and French army costs, this just about bankrupts the country. So Clark has urged, even demanded, that the Russians scale down their occupation costs.

Last month this argument finally came to a crisis when Clark proposed that the Russians reduce their costs to 123,000,000 schillings for the next quarter. The Russians, however, said "No"—that 200,000,000 schillings was the least they would take—and they threatened to walk out of the council.

Veto Humbles Reds.

Clark, however, is one American who has found the Russian veto strategy just as useful as M. Molotov. He promptly exercised his veto and told the Russians that they could not have 200 million schillings, whereupon they did walk out.

A couple of weeks passed and the Russians walked in again and meekly said they would now accept Clark's figure of 123 million schillings, but the American general was immediately on his feet.

"I'm sorry, gentlemen," he said, "but it's too late now. We can't let you have but one-third of the military budget which will be 112 million schillings instead of 123 million."

Once again the Russians walked out. Once again, however, Clark stuck to his veto and a few days later the Reds came back and accepted the lower figure. But to get even with the Austrians the Russians simultaneously put in a bill for 600 million schillings on the ground that they had turned in that amount (in Hitler's old reichmarks) to the Austrian treasury just after the armistice.

Reichsmarks no longer exist but the Reds said they wanted this money back, whereupon Clark also put in a bill to the Austrian treasury for two billion schillings on the ground that the U. S. had put that amount in reichmarks into the Austrian treasury. Clark knew that if he demanded the money back from Austria, the U. S. demand, on top of Russians, would be so great that neither could be paid.

Most significant thing about Clark's strategy is that he started out by being soft with the Russians. Everything they asked for, he gave. He sincerely believed in strong Russian cooperation and after the war's end he bent over backward to give it. But all he reaped from his favors was rebuffs until, finally, he decided to try different tactics. Now Clark doesn't budge an inch and the policy seems to work better.

Marquis Childs

Ohio Congresswoman Praised for Work.

WASHINGTON — Members of the 79th congress are back home. For a change, they are listening instead of talking—trying to find out what people are thinking before they begin to campaign.

Like every other congress, the 79th was a pretty fair cross-section of the country; probably better than we deserve, in the light of our political apathy, and indifference. One thing most people tend to forget—and that goes for those of us who spend a lot of time observing congress—is the proportion of serious-minded, earnest men and women who work hard at the job of being a representative or a senator.

CHILDS

The demagogues and the special-interest servers make so much noise that we forget they are not a majority but a rather small minority.

We hear a lot about John Rankin of Mississippi but very little, to take one example, about Mrs. Frances P. Bolton.

The congresswoman from Ohio works hard at her job. But as she has often said, if she were not in congress, she could find a number of other ways to occupy herself in the public good.

Or, being a woman of wealth, she could do nothing. Mrs. Bolton is well aware, however, that wealth entails responsibility.

She knows that a conservative is not someone who merely says no in a loud, angry voice. A conservative must know how to conserve, which does not mean standing in the way of all change.

A Republican, Mrs. Bolton has often fought for measures which most of her fellow Republicans in the house felt were dangerously radical and contrary to "states' rights." The latest example was her effort to get an appropriation to continue federal aid in the fight on organized vice and juvenile delinquency.

For many years, Mrs. Bolton has been a vice-chairman of the American Social Hygiene association. She knows, out of expert knowledge, the devastating impact of war on morals and manners. Yet Congressmen Frank B. Keefe of Wisconsin and John W. Gwynne of Iowa dismissed the matter as of merely local concern. They talked sneeringly of federal snoopers butting into other peoples' business.

Unlike her Republican colleague, Clare Boothe Luce, who can rarely resist the temptation to sacrifice an issue to a wisecrack, Mrs. Bolton is in earnest in her objectives.

One goal has been to get something done about the notoriously bad hospitals in the District of Columbia.

Here again, Mrs. Bolton has expert knowledge, having had probably more experience in hospital administration than most non-professionals.

As a member of a foreign affairs subcommittee, Mrs. Bolton went on a tour last year that took her to Russia, Poland, all the Balkan countries, and every country in the Near East. Only the lady from Ohio and one other colleague went the whole route. Visiting Saudi Arabia, she became the only woman ever to sit in conference with King Ibn Saud. She was also the only outsider ever to visit the king's harem.

Elected to fill the unexpired term of her husband when he died, Mrs. Bolton has been re-elected three times. Renominated in this year's Republican primary without opposition, she does not anticipate too stiff a fight this fall. Yet, after a vacation, she is going home to campaign with the vigor and forthrightness of a veteran.

Something Still To Be Explained.

The apparent end of the Senate war investigating committee's attempt to put Representative May of Kentucky on the stand to tell what he knows about the wartime activities of the Garsson brothers leaves no one satisfied.

Representative May's illness, as certified by his physicians, isn't in question. What is in question is his refusal to appear before the senate committee before he fell ill. There is something still to be explained that cannot be glossed over by the Kentucky congressman's physical inability to submit himself for questioning. Preceding his illness he showed a kind of mental reluctance that cast more discredit on his character than anything he might have said under oath. Most Americans hope Representative May recovers his health and his tongue in time to tell his part of a story that rightfully belongs to the public.—Canton Repository.

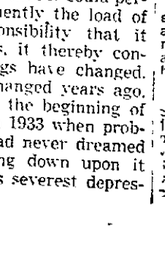
Congress Taking Itself More Seriously.

WASHINGTON—Coming back to this city to find congress gone, as I did recently from a southern tour, is like coming back home to find the family away, and the house empty and still, which also was the case.



STOKES

It it downright lonesome. This city, with congress gone, is like a summer bachelor, though there is plenty of government still left here, a president in the White House, and building after building full of the rest of it. But congress is the spice of life here. We cuss it when it's here, but only a few days after it's gone we begin to miss it, and wish it were back—at least that's a feeling among those of us who write about it and other things here.

Undoubtedly the president — any president — is glad to see it go for awhile. He and it did not get along so well. And undoubtedly those men and women who work in the hives of great white buildings are glad to be free, for a spell, of the almost daily denunciation of themselves as "bureaucrats."

Congress, we suddenly discover again, despite all our complaints, is one of those American institutions that is a handy and convenient escape valve for all our grievances. We can take it out on congress and we feel better afterward.

Before it left, congress finally admitted by its own act that it had come of age, or had caught up with this age. When it voted to reorganize itself so that it could perform more efficiently the load of work and responsibility that it faces these days, it thereby confessed that things have changed.

They really changed years ago, at least back at the beginning of the New Deal in 1933 when problems congress had never dreamed of came tumbling down upon it with the nation's severest depression.

When it abolishes lots of its committees, however, and consolidates others, we will miss such appendages as the committee on the disposition of useless executive papers, which once was good for a laugh, especially when it was headed by that Florida statesman, Lex Green, with the Windsor tie, who seemed somehow the perfect chairman.

Congress used to have long vacations regularly. It would leave here in March every other year and be gone until December and in alternate years it usually wound up its business in June before the hot weather set in.

Those were the simple and easy days, and not too long ago at that.

Those were the days. There were the days when congressmen could be human beings. Now they are bourne down with problems, men with weary shoulders and sagging mouths, and that hunted, harrassed look.

And some of them already have been defeated and others will be. Theirs is not the merriest of lives.

Nationalizing Britain's Coal Industry.

LONDON — What will British socialism be like for the man in the street? Since it is a free government's business to satisfy its citizens, that is the all-important question. The answer falls into two parts.

First, all but a minority will only feel the impact of the new socialism in special ways — through the far-reaching social security and health programs; in parks and housing and better educational opportunities, and in the replanning of Britain's lopsided urban pattern, redevelopment of the decayed industrial areas, and protection of the countryside from further industrial invasion.

The vast majority of business will not be state-controlled. War-time controls over daily life are only being perpetuated for a time because of Britain's urgent need to get working capital by practicing temporary austerity.

The average man will be more free, not more regimented, when the socialist program is going full blast.

But what of the activities which the state has marked for permanent control? The coal industry is both the most acute of all Britain's economic problems, and the first industry which will be fully nationalized. The new National Coal Board is due to take over on January 1, 1947.

To try to get a more solid picture of the British future, your correspondent recently talked with most of the members of the board. In every sense it was a remarkable experience.

Most American businessmen will suppose that the headquarters of a great new socialist administration must teem with the incorruptible type of leftwing enthusiast. Nothing could be more untrue.

John L. Lewis would hardly be at home in the singularly undramatic atmosphere of the coal board's shabby headquarters in a battered apartment house on Berkeley Square. But the place would be entirely congenial to a sound, intelligent banker of the old school. The chairman of the board, Lord Hyndley, is a progressive colliery owner. The chief technical expert, Sir Charles Reid, is a frosty, conservative Scotsman whose very scottish burr proclaims distaste for the impractical and the visionary. Ebby Edwards, the miners' representative, is a shrewd, seasoned trades union leader. And the other members of the board are men of the same tough, able kind.

They have the hardest job in Britain ahead of them. Between wars, coal was Britain's slum industry. Profits were low, and most colliery owners preferred to rely on cheap labor rather than to spend money to modernize their mines. Unemployment was appalling.

The mine villages were of the sort Blake remembered when he wrote of "the dark satanic mill". Every older miner counselled his son to try another trade. Thus the coal board now begins without enough men to get out the coal Britain needs.

This is a matter of vital political significance. By next winter, with rising exports and full employment, Britain will require about 4,000,000 tons of coal a week as a minimum. Stocks are already below the danger point everywhere, and production is hovering around 3,700,000 a week or a little below that figure.

A hard winter will be a national tragedy. Even if the winter is mild, increased production will be absolutely essential.

To get through the emergency, the board will use emergency measures. Production will be concentrated on the best seams. To give an incentive for increased output per man, the board is asking the cabinet to give the miners richer food rations and increased opportunities to buy consumer goods.

Even if the cabinet consents to the controversial expedient of preferential treatment for the miners, there is not a member of the coal board who will not look forward to the winter with deep misgivings.

On the other hand, there is not a member of the board who does not look forward with stirring enthusiasm to tackling the long-range problem of modernizing their industry. It is all nonsense that Britain's coal resource is played out. On the contrary, no nation in the world except perhaps the United States has such riches in this basic raw material, provided they are properly exploited.

Walter Lippmann is on vacation for several weeks. His column will be resumed upon his return.

The principle of exploitation which the board has adopted is broad national and regional planning for highest efficiency, combined with the fullest delegation of executive responsibility to the men in charge of the job of getting out the coal.

Planning will be done in the board itself, and in the eight "divisions" corresponding to the eight big British coal regions, into which the country has been parcelled out.

The job of getting out the coal will be given to area managers within each division. Each regional group of mines will be fully modernized, with the best of new machinery, in accordance with three points for the largest and cheapest production of coal from the whole region's seams.

As the program develops, schemes of welfare and improvement will be instituted in the mining villages. Training programs for young men entering the industry will also be instituted.

The miner of the future in Britain is to be a mechanic and engineer. By a selective process, the most promising of the young entrants will be given chances to rise to executive positions. Sir Charles Reid almost belligerently stated the rule which controls the whole plan:

"Just ye remember", he said, "we are going to run this thing on business lines."

In truth the story of coal sums up the whole problem of the British Socialist experiment. No one who talks to the men conducting it can doubt that it will succeed if human ingenuity, pratical judgment and devoted effort can make it succeed. But modernizing coal will take a long time—five years to show real results, fifteen to twenty to be completed. And there is very little time.

Even another bitter winter, with unheated homes and banked fires in the factories, might conceivably strain the endurance and exhaust the determination of the British people.

Fate of Two and Half Million Germans In Russia One of World's Great Mysteries

By PIERRE J. HUSS

PARIS—(INS)—One of World War II's most formidable mysteries has been the fate of some 2½ million Wehrmacht troops captured by the Red army.

Those long columns of battle-weary Germans disappeared into a vast unknown, from which none emerged until a trickle of ragged and bearded Wehmachters drifted back into the Russian-occupied zones around Berlin six months ago.

They had nothing to say, although their gaunt faces told a tale of hardship and hunger.

The hundreds of thousands captured by the Russians also included the conscripted "unreliable" natives of German borderlands forced to serve in the Hitler armies, such as the Poles, Czechs, Luxembourgers, Austrians and the hardy youths from the farms of Lorraine and Alsace.

A stolen glance into the depths of Russia to satisfy the western world's curiosity as to what happened to these 2½ million Wehrmacht soldiers is like taking a walk, with seven-league boots, from the Caspian sea to the snowfields of Siberia.

The footprints and tell-tale marks of these endless thousands—sometimes only their indistinct mass graves—jump up in all corners of the Soviet Union. Those who came back are of the common opinion that by force of circumstances the great majority of the 2½ million prisoners-of-war taken into Russia will never return.

There have been an interminable amount of rumors about the real fate of these captives, much of it mixed with unadulterated propaganda against the Soviets. The Russians themselves have been very silent, although repeated efforts have been and are being made to clarify the matter under the Geneva convention.

But not until a treaty is signed by the Allies with Germany will Russia be obligated to set free—in theory—the enemy soldiers in her hands.

SALEM, Ore.—(U.P.)—It was a case of curbstone justice. Justice of the Peace Joseph Felton, one foot in the street and the other on the curb, was flanked by deputy sheriffs. In an automobile was a woman charged with obtaining property by false pretenses.

Both the woman and the court thought it not advisable to go upstairs to the courtroom. The defendant was expecting to become a mother "most any time." The case was continued for two weeks.

ADALINE WILGING, C. H. SCHLEGEL TO WED

Betrothal of Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Wilging and Son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Schlegel Announced Today.

MR. AND MRS. PHILIP WILGING, 616 Marion avenue, are announcing the approaching wedding date of their daughter, Adaline Marie, and Charles Howard Schlegel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Schlegel, Manchester road.

Nuptial vows will be exchanged on Sept. 6 in the home of the bride at 6:30 p. m. with members of the immediate families present. The minister who will perform the ceremony will be John Simon of Peoria, Ill., a friend of the family.

Miss Wilging is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and is a member of Zeta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority She is associated in business with the Wilging shop.

Mr. Schlegel graduated from Mansfield Senior high and attended Ohio State university before entering the service where he served 3½ years in the European theater in the headquarters division of the U. S. Army. He is now employed at the Mansfield Photo Engraving company.

DORNER - GONSHIRSKI WEDDING PERFORMED

Before the altar of St. Peter's Catholic church on Aug. 10, Miss Eva S. Dorner became the bride of Joseph J. Gonshirski in a 9:30 a. m. ceremony performed by Rev. Timothy Downey.

Miss Dorner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dorner, Pulver List road while the groom is the son of Mrs. Margaret Gonshirski, Hammond avenue.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin made with a square neckline and a peplum which was trimmed with chantilly lace. The veil was train length and was also trimmed with chantilly lace. The bridal bouquet was made of white gladiolis and white asters.

Miss Dorothy Gonshirski, sister of the groom, served as maid-of-honor and wore a gown of powder blue tulle with a band of fuschia flowers and a short veil as a headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Miss Anne Gonshirski, sister of the groom and Miss Mary Dorner, sister of the bride. Both wore pink net gowns with circlets of net and flowers in their hair. Their bouquets were of orchid gladolis and purple asters.

Anthony Buzenski served as best man, while other attendants for Mr. Gonshirski were Albert Miller and George Sabolick. Ushers were John Angle and Joe Kudika.

The bride's mother was attired in an aqua dress with white accessories and the mother of the groom wore a powder blue dress with white accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Sons of Herman hall on the evening of the wedding.

After a honeymoon through the Southern states the couple will be at home at 428 Hammond avenue.

The former Miss Dorner graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and was employed at the Westinghouse Manufacturing company.

Mr. Gonshirski attended St. Peter's Catholic school and is now employed at Humphryes Manufacturing company.

Courtesy In Reverse Gear In Wedding Invitations

By EMILY POST

The following letter presents a suggestion which should be nipped in the bud: "As a social secretary I address wedding invitations and announcements and in this connection I have met with a difference of opinion. Many families want to cut the number of invitations wherever possible and, accordingly, one invitation is sent to a mother and two unmarried daughters, all living together, or else to a mother, father and their two sons or daughters—all at home. In many instances, the younger people are the particular friends and their parents are included only in courtesy. It has been suggested to me that such a mailing envelope be addressed to "The Misses Mary and Sarah Smith" and the mother's or parents' name be added on the inside envelope. In my opinion this is impolite. Regardless of which ones are the greater friends, I think the mailing envelope should be addressed to the parents and the daughters' or sons' names added to theirs on the second envelope. But as my opinion is convincing no one, I'm even beginning to doubt it myself. Will you please give us your advice?"

First of all, an envelope addressed "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith" with "The Misses Mary and Sarah Smith" on the line below is absolutely correct. "The Messrs' Smith" have to have a separate envelope. Apart from this, in answer to your question, you are right! To put the parents as an extra on the inside envelope would be as shocking as though one suggested the parents should stand while young people are seated. (This simile is not very apt but illustrates the impropriety.)

Dear Mrs. Post: When shall we give our wedding attendants their gifts? My fiance has his ready and so have I for my maid of honor and bridesmaids. Someone told us we put them at their places at the wedding reception.

Answer: A man usually gives his at his "bachelor" dinner and the bride at the "bridesmaid's luncheon." If they are not having either, they are given anytime the day before the wedding Correctly, these presents are worn at the wedding.

Hazel Bucher Becomes Bride Of Edward Them

Miss Hazel Bucher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Bucher, 665 McPherson street, became the bride of Edward Them, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Them, 410 First avenue, at the St. Peter's parsonage Saturday.

The double ring ceremony was read at 10 a. m. in the presence of the couple's close friends and relatives.

For her wedding the bride wore a green gabardine suit with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. She was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Bucher.

Harold Stransky served as Mr. Them's best man.

A dinner was held following the ceremony at the bride's home, and a reception was held at 7:30 p. m. at Liberty park for approximately 100 guests. The bridal table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake and bouquets of mixed garden flowers.

Following a wedding trip through the southern part of the state, the newlyweds will reside with the groom's parents.

The former Miss Bucher attended Mansfield Senior high school and has been employed at Westinghouse Electric corporation. Mr. Them, a graduate of St. Peter's high school, served in the army for three years and is now employed at the Ohio Brass company.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from California and Michigan.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, August 14.

OPPORTUNITY of exceptional promise continues to knock at the door with insistent force, offering expansion, progress, enhanced power and place, through fresh ways and means or quite new, unique or perhaps revolutionary tactics and techniques.

A departure from old ideas and methods may bring an abrupt about-face to the life, its environs and destiny. This affects business and financial credit and security as well as all affiliations influencing the social, romantic and cultural life and personal happiness.

Those whose birthday it is may continue in a splendid groove of prosperity and happiness, with growing prestige, popularity and private emoluments and joys. Such may involve radical change, with new environs and possible distant travel.

Novelty, ingenuity, originality and new techniques may assist this and attract attention from those in high places, who may be generous with capital or influence. Political or diplomatic service might bring a crisis, with fulfillment of long-treasured aspirations or desires. The changes may be radical and far-reaching.

A child born on this day will be exceptionally talented, with plans, ideas and ingenuity for innovations of far-reaching bearing on its career. A happy and prosperous life is promised with change.

HAVE REUNION.

The L. J. Danals annual reunion was held Sunday at Hamilton park, Crestline. Eighty-five attended the dinner which was served at noon. H. A. Danals, president, presided at a business meeting. The next reunion will be held at the park on the second Sunday in August next year.

The third finger left hand was selected for the wedding and engagement rings because ancient people believe a vein from the finger ran directly to the heart.

Your Figure, Madame

—By Ida Jean Kain

Overweight begins at 40. It may shorten your life. When you reach the age of 50, every excess pound cuts your life expectancy by one per cent. Offhand you might think that small percentage a mere trifle, but multiply it by the number of excess pounds piled on. In round figures, 25 excess pounds cut the number of years you might ordinarily expect to live according to averages, by 25 per cent. That's hard to forget.

You probably think this is a lot of nonsense. You never felt better in your life. You look the very picture of health, robust and ruddy. Sure you do, now. The organs can take it for a time. But the heart, pancreas, kidneys and other vital organs constructed to support 150 pounds without undue strain can't work as efficiently or last as long when an extra 25 pounds or more are added. That's why overweight shortens life.

It isn't, because the midsection is interlarded with fat, or because your arms and shoulders get beefy that overweight is dangerous. It's because as fat piles on, it's deposited in the heart muscle and in the sac around the heart. And because of fatty deposits the kidneys do not function as they normally should. Then, seemingly without warning, high blood pressure threatens, or diabetes, or you develop a heart condition. These diseases have long been known to be closely associated with overweight.

Why does the fat person pant when he climbs the stairs or hurries? It's the extra burden imposed by the fat. The heart must pump harder to supply the extra miles of blood vessels. Each pound of fat requires six-tenths of a mile of blood vessels. Then for a mere 15 extra pounds there are nine extra miles of blood vessels. No wonder the overweights pant in climbing. Just sitting still the old heart must pump at top capacity to supply all the extra miles of blood vessels.

The weight comes on so gradually it almost seems normal. It takes a bit over 4,000 extra calories to make one pound of fat—by extra is meant above the number needed to carry on your daily activity. It's easy to overeat. The amount of food needed quite definitely in middle age, but appetite doesn't always follow suit.

Excess weight should never be taken very lightly. Drop around to the doctor's office for a check-up. If he advises that you get busy and take off ten or twenty pounds, take them off. You will not only live longer but add life to your years. You don't necessarily have to go on a diet; all you need to do is to change your food habits so as to get fewer calories than you use. It's not so tough, really. Tomorrow I'll outline a plan.

HAS PICNIC.

St. Johns Evangelical Reform church Brotherhood had their annual picnic for the Children's Home Monday night. During the evening entertainment was furnished by Jimmie Pirrgo and his band and George Keil. Group singing was led by Paul Smith.

Auxiliary Has Regular Meeting At Legion Home

A report on the recent caucus of the fifth district of the American Legion auxiliary held in Willard was made at the meeting of the McVey Post American Legion auxiliary last night.

Mrs. Virgil Hageman presided at the meeting at which time it was reported that the McVey Post had won first prize for membership in the fifth district. The fall district conference will be held in Tiffin.

Thomas Bloor, who was sponsored at Buckeye Boys State by the auxiliary, was present for the meeting and reported on Boys State.

Members of the Child Welfare committee also reported that food and clothing will be sent each month to two French children who have been adopted by the group.

During the meeting, the charter was draped for the late Mrs. Louise B. Miller.

Election of officers will be held at the next meeting on Sept. 9. Chairman of the nominating committee is Miss Marie Kalbfleisch.

Picnic, Program Held By Society

The Florence Welty Missionary society of the First Lutheran church met in North Lake park last evening for a picnic with Mrs. H. W. Johnson and Mrs. John C. Lorentz as hostesses.

Following the picnic the group adjourned to the home of Mrs. Harold Garrison, Western avenue for the program and business meeting, conducted by the president, Mrs. Marjorie Remlong.

Mrs. Anita Davidson and Mrs. Eldon Sharrock were in charge of the program which consisted of a vocal solo by Miss Norma Hess.

A report on the Lakeside convention was given by Mrs. Olan Aubaugh.

Church Society Has Meeting

Members of the Women's Missionary society of St. Luke's Lutheran church met in the church parlors last night with Mrs. M. O. Doolittle and Mrs. C. C. Blair as hostesses.

Devotions and the program were given by Mrs. Ernest Schafer. Topic for the program was "Problems of a Rural World." The business meeting was conducted by the president, Miss Clara Miller.

The next meeting will be held on September 9.

Washington Letter

—By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — From the land of veiled women came to Washington recently 14 men and a blond young American woman with a baby in her arms.

The men were Saudi Arabians, members of an economic delegation headed by their finance minister, Shaikh Abdulla Al-Sulayman. This man, aside from being minister, is one of the founders of Saudi Arabia. He has fought at the side of his king, Ibn Saud, in war and peace since 1901.

The woman, the former Marianne Likowski, of Long Beach, Calif., is the wife of handsome Ali Ali Reza, youngest son of one of the wealthiest merchants in Jidda. The two met when they attended the University of Southern California. Their child, Hamida, is 17 months old.

This was the first marriage of an American girl into a Saudi Arabian family. It created a lot of curiosity.

Shaikh Ali Reza helps his father run a Ford agency and a business in pearls, harem silks, perfumes and frankincense. He and his wife live in the large family home in the city and Ali Reza's new place outside the wall.

The new house is blue-green in color and very modern. The desert lies behind it, the water out in front. In the patio there is a constant tinkle on the fountain tiles.

* * *

Although any Moslem can have four wives if he wishes, Ali Ali Reza has only one.

The king has a Number One wife who is more or less on the permanent list. His Number Two and Number Three wives are political. Wife Number Four is described as being "on the affection list.

Political wives are chosen from the big tribes that maybe get out of hand. The king marries a daughter of the tribe. This makes for good will. When she has a boy child, the boy stays at the palace, the king divorces his mother and she goes back to her tribe.

There are no hard feelings about this. She can remarry any time because she's been the wife of the king and the tribe is very proud that one of its members is a royal prince.

Ibn Saud is described as a "fine family man." He has 37 sons and nobody seems to know how many daughters.

* * *

Women have to be heavily veiled at all times in Saudi Arabia. They never see any men except members of their family.

Thus it is a great step for the wife of Ali Ali Reza to be permitted to travel with the 14 men of the delegation. She never wears a veil. Her clothes are modern and extremely chic. She wears her hair in a long bob.

The men in the group were attired in their native costumes on arrival at the airport.

Most of these men come from Jidda, which is the diplomatic capital of Saudi Arabia, on the Red sea. The real capital is Mecca, open only to Moslems.

COMMITTEE TO MEET.

The Library committee, Women of the Moose, will meet tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Clara Ruddock, 54 Wood street.

New York Notes

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Life In Hollywood (As a Broadwayite Sees It) — The cinema industry has progressed in numberless ways since the first talking pictures—photography is better, make-up is flattering to the point of being out of the world and lighting effects are magical. Technicolor has given the screen a wonderful new kind of life; musical scores created by brilliant composers and arrangers add drama and beauty to nine motion pictures out of ten. Acting, with a possible few exceptions, is more subdued and generally more professional; scenarios are more adult and even the personal publicity of the stars is less corny than it was in the era of throw-another-adjective-on-the-fire.

But in one way the movie industry is slipping.

Years ago Hollywood started all the mad fads. Hollywood influenced life in the United States—at least scenically — more than any other city, town or village. And it had its effect on countries all over the rest of the world, too. But that influence has lessened. Hollywood innovations seldom sweep the country any more and then briefly and lightly.

I don't know the reason. I don't know whether it's good or bad, although I suspect it's good. I just know it's true.

* * *

Remember how it was in the old days?

When Colleen Moore appeared on the screen with her night-black hair cut in a straight Dutch bob with sharp edges and deep bangs, women all over the nation ran to the beauty parlors to have theirs snipped in exactly the same fashion. Mae Murray's bee-stung mouth precipitated an epidemic of cupid's bow lips — just look at any fashion magazine or Sunday rotogravure of that day — and most of them it must be admitted, were painted on faces that definitely weren't the cupid type. Fans in those days adopted fads whether they were becoming or not. This fashion was followed somewhat later by the Joan Crowford or how-big-can-you-make-it? mouth, the success of which depended on how closely you resembled a Ubangi who has just eaten a blueberry pie. Even Joan doesn't like to talk about that one.

* * *

Marlene Dietrich shaved her eyebrows one day and penciled lines where the brows used to be. Presto! A fad was born. To this very day there are ladies in their thirties and forties who will always hold it against Marlene because after the fad passed their eyebrows never grew in quite the same way again. La Dietrich was more than busy as a trend-starter. She made the males of the world mad as hornets by stealing their trousers, whittling them down to fit her own admirable hips, and wearing them everywhere — on the street, on the beach, at formal dinners. She even pulled a fedora over her glittering gold hair and managed to look so devastatingly feminine that girls in their callow teens and ladies who tipped the scales at 267 were impelled to buy and wear similar garb, to the consternation and disgust of their fathers and husbands.

A girl named Jean Harlow, who forgot more about curves than Jane Russell and Lana Turner will ever know, was responsible for quite a fad in the dizzy thirties, too. Her hair was the color of white silk in the moonlight, and script writers used to cause such high-caliber actors as Franchot Tone to pay tribute to its beauty by gasping, in reel three, "I'd like to run barefoot through it!" Well, Jean hadn't been glimpsed in two pictures before the beauty salons of America were ordering peroxide by the tankful to keep up with demands of maids and matrons alike for platinum coiffures.

And there were so many other fads that had their inception in Hollywood. Joan Crawford popularized the Letty Lynton sleeves and the wide-padded shoulders, both Adrian creations but both "sold" by the Crawford appeal. Garbo was responsible for the long bob, the beret, and considerable pallor from coast to coast. Clara Bow made girls want a windblown haircut. Norma Shearer made them push it back behind their ears in a mannish (His Secretary) arrangement Dorothy Mackaill's shingle was copied far and wide.

Committee Has Meeting Monday

Members of the homemaking committee of the Women of the Moose met last night at the home of Mrs. Andrew Decapio, 401 St. Clair street.

Associate hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Tony Schweitzer and Mrs. Michael Richards. Three guests, Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. George Mickan and Mrs. Grace Pocock, were present. The business session was conducted by Mrs. Samuel Gentille, committee chairman.

Prizes for the evening were awarded to Mrs. Paul Ritchie, Mrs. Michael Marvicson, and Mrs. Kenneth Knackstedt.

The next meeting will be at the Moose hall on Sept. 9 with Mrs. Glenn Yingling as hostess assisted by Mrs. Russell Remy and Miss Mary Leathers.
